Rear Admiral "Bob" Evans, Looking the Fighter Still, Smiles on Boston on Way to Bar Harbor

Rear Admiral Robley D. Evans, U. S. N., retired, commander of the battleship fleet from Hampton Roads to San Francisco in its trip around the world, left Boston to-day for the Evans's Summer home at Bar Harbor, Me. He was accompanied by Mrs. Evans and their daughter, Mrs. Charlotte C. Marsh.

The party arrived last night at the Hotel Lenox from Newport, R. I., where they have been visiting the admiral's son, Lieutenant Frank Taylor Evans, who is stationed at the training school there. They left Washington, June 24.

Admiral Evans is still suffering from rheumatism, and has some difficulty in getting about. Otherwise he appears well. He displayed his characteristic interest in affairs, asking for the latest news from Washington and about the movements of the warships which are gathering off the New England coast for the Summer evolutions.

DYNAMITE SAFE; GET $1,200 LOOT

Burglars Rob Postoffice at Seconnet Point, R. I., Get Away With Government and Private Cash—Search for Criminals in Many Towns.

LITTLE COMPTON, R. I., July 8.—Twelve hundred dollars in cash and a large quantity of stamps were secured by burglars who dynamited the safe in the Sakonnet Point postoffice in this township early to-day.

Of the cash taken, $300 was the property of the government, in charge of Postmaster P. W. Almy. The other $800 belonged to the Providence & Sakonnet Steamship Company and E. L. Manchester, a merchant in whose store the postoffice is located. The steamboat agent and Mr. Manchester used the government safe for night deposits.

It is believed that the burglary was the work of three men and that the same ones committed the burglary at Robert Boddington's store last Monday night, when $237 was stolen.

Saw Three Men.

At 4 a. m. to-day Chester Davis and Fred Smith, while on their way to work, saw three men ahead of them in the road. The trio suddenly dodged into the bushes and made off, apparently in the direction of New Bedford. Davis and Smith, not having heard of the burglary, gave the matter little thought.

The break was discovered at 5:30 a. m. by Mr. Watson, who came to the postoffice to mail a letter. Through the office door he saw that the safe had been blown. He notified Postmaster Almy, who began immediate investigation.

The burglars, working like professionals, had made a clean sweep, departing from the safe only cash and stamps. They had blown the safe door with nitro-glycerine, performing the job so neatly that no one in the vicinity was aroused by the explosion.

Stole Tools First.

Later A. J. Barker found that an axe and chisel had been taken from his carpenter shop during the night. These tools were probably taken by the burglars to make an entrance into the postoffice.

It is now thought that the gang which committed the break at Boddington's store had been hanging around the neighborhood waiting for a favorable time to operate on the postoffice. After this second break the gang probably fled for good. No trace of them had been found up to noon Wednesday, and officers were scouring places and search is being made.

DOVES ARE AT HOME AGAIN;
RED SOX HAVE A DAY OFF

At the South End Grounds to-day the Doves, home again, tackle the St. Louis in the first of a series of four games.

The Red Sox have an off day, being on their way to Chicago, where they expect to add some points to their pennant standing.

Philadelphia and Detroit are engaged to-day, and either way it goes the Red Sox will profit by the result.

SHAH'S CAPITAL IS AT MERCY OF REVOLUTIONISTS

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 8.—The fall of the city of Teheran is momentarily expected, following a bloody battle to-day between the Persian rebels and the Russian Cossacks under General Liskoff, who was endeavoring to check the advance of 6,000 mountaineer revolutionists upon the city.

General Liskoff is the military governor of Teheran and his expedition was aimed to check the junction of the Bakhtiari tribesmen and nationalists near Koreul. Official dispatches were received here to-day from Teheran confirming the news of the battle.

This is taken to indicate that the power of the Shah is about broken because it is hardly likely that the royal troops would flee the city unless nothing within the city can cope with the onrush of the rebels.

The royal guard was kept stationed about the palace in instant readiness to repel an investment of Teheran.

Unless the foreign powers come to the assistance of the Shah he may become a fugitive. Russian and English foreign ministers have already notified the Shah that he cannot expect help from those quarters.

The city is in a state of terror. Hundreds of armed ruffians have joined the royalist forces and arms were instantly provided for them. They have been placed in regiments of the Shah's guard, but it has been thought that their loyalty to officers will bring about any result.

Soldiers have been distributed over the public squares, and there are bivouacs over the city in case the attack comes from some unexpected quarter.

PROF. JAMES'S AMAZING TALK WITH THE DEAD

That he not only talked with the spirit of the late Dr. Richard Hodgson of Boston, but also that Dr. Hodgson gave him intimate details of the "life beyond" is declared by Professor William James, eminent psychologist, formerly professor of philosophy at Harvard University.

Professor James gives extracts from conversations between Professor James and Dr. James on the one hand and the supposed spirit of Dr. Hodgson on the other, but the conversations being through the medium of a spiritualistic medium.

Dr. Hodgson spirit, according to the reports given by Professor James, said they, the spirits, lived in houses, but did not wear clothing.

Spirit in Adirondacks.

Dr. Hodgson, in the course of one of the spirit talks, startled Dr. James by recalling an incident at Lie Putnam camp in the Adirondacks which occurred when Dr. Hodgson was alive and which had been wholly forgotten by all present in the camp at that time except Professor James.

Professor James has written a long report on the subject for publication in the coming number of the "Proceedings of the American Society for Psychical Research."

"BULLY LUCK": FIRST ROOSEVELT MESSAGE

WASHINGTON, July 8.—"We are having a bully time. The luck has been fine and the specimens great. All are well and happy."

This message, written at the bottom of a letter from Edmund Heller, was received by Secretary Charles D. Walcott of the Smithsonian Institution from former President Roosevelt yesterday. The letter was dated Mombassa, British East Africa.

The brief message from Col. Roosevelt was the first direct information received from him since his departure in March. In the letter Mr. Heller, who was one of the men selected to accompany the Roosevelt party, informed Secretary Walcott that the skins of all the lions, tigers, giraffes, rhinoceroses, antelopes, monkeys and other animals bagged up to the time the letter was written, had been treated by the taxidermists of the party and shipped from Mombassa.

Mr. Heller wrote that the collection was a most valuable one and had been packed with the utmost care and insured. The specimens number two score or more, according to the letter.

While withholding a positive statement of belief in the authenticity of the "communications" made by the alleged spirit through Mrs. Piper, a medium, Professor James says that it is evident that among a mass of "trance talk rubbish" there was matter reflecting the desire of the dead author to hold communication with the living.

In the report Professor James says:

"If asked whether the will to communicate be Hodgson's or be some more spirit counterfeit of Hodgson, I remain unconvinced, and await more facts; facts which may not point clearly to a conclusion for fifty or a hundred years."

Early in his chapter on conclusions drawn from the records, however, he says:

Some Fact Among Rubbish.

"But it is possible to complicate the

TROOPS GUARD MINES; RIOTS BY STRIKERS

GLACE BAY, Cape Breton, July 8.—The striking coal miners in the collieries of the Dominion Coal Company were wrought up to a high pitch of feeling to-day when they faced the loaded rifles of a trainload of troops arrived here from the barracks at Halifax.

While the arrival of the soldiers quieted conditions for a time, it is feared that a crisis may take place at any time and that a serious loss of life may ensue. The bringing in of soldiers has only served to make the miners more determined in their purpose not to give in.

The strike took its first violent turn yesterday at Nos. 2 and No. 3 mines. Roughness was commenced at No. 2 at 6 o'clock, as soon as the first man appeared for work.

An enormous crowd had assembled at the colliery, composed of strikers, women and children, waiting for the men who were expected to go to work.

All were armed with sticks, stones and eggs, and when the first man appeared they bore down on him, surrounded him and the rest broke loose.

General Manager Duggan and a posse of police charged the crowd to open up a way for the workmen to escape. Mr. Duggan was struck and slightly wounded on the side of the head and several women and children were knocked down and a number injured.

BURLINGTON GREETS TAFT AT BIG FETE

BURLINGTON, Vt., July 8.—The scene of the Lake Champlain tercentenary celebration shifted to-day from the shores of New York, where it has been in progress at Crown Point, Fort Ticonderoga and Plattsburg, to Vermont, with Burlington as the setting for the day's ceremonies.

Vermont has been celebrating along with New York throughout the week, but to-day's visit of President Taft, the French and English ambassadors, Gov. Hughes of New York and the New York commissioners and the members of the Legislature had long been eagerly anticipated as the crowning event, and the city was gay with decorations for the occasion.

When the steamer bearing the President and party from Blue Point arrived at the King street wharf early in the day it was met by the Vermont division of the national guard, Col. J. Gray Estey commanding, and the visitors were escorted to City Hall Park, where literary exercises were held, over which Gov. Prouty, chairman of the Vermont Champlain commission, presided.

The program included a prayer by the Rt. Rev. Arthur C. A. Hall, Protestant Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Vermont, welcoming addresses by Gov. Prouty and Mayor James E. Burke of Burlington, an original poem by Miss Carpenter, and addresses by President Taft, Ambassadors Bryce and Jusserand, Gov. Hughes and Postmaster-General Lemieux of Canada.

A parade at noon was followed by a luncheon given by Governor Prouty to the presidential party and ambassadorial and official guests at the Ethan Allen Club, and a luncheon to the New York State Legislature at the gymnasium building of the University of Vermont.

The Indian pageants were a feature of the afternoon program, following which the New York legislative guests were scheduled to leave at 4 p. m. on the steamer for Hotel Champlain, at Blue Point.

ASKS $20,000 IN LOVE SUIT

A breach of promise suit for $20,000 against J. Norman Hopkins of Melrose was filed in the office of the clerk of the Superior Civil Court of Middlesex County at East Cambridge to-day by Frances Montenegro of Boston, through her attorneys, McManus & Lacy.

The plaintiff says she and Hopkins mutually agreed to wed, that she was meanwhile lost that Hopkins later deserted.

BELGIAN OARSMEN WIN HENLEY RACE

LONDON, July 8.—English athletes suffered another defeat from foreigners to-day when the Belgian crew won the Henley challenge cup, beating the Jesus College crew of Cambridge University.

A. S. Stuart of Kingston, England, virtually turned the right to proclaim himself the amateur sculling champion of the world by winning the Diamond sculling race from R. Lucas of Germany in 8 minutes and 33 seconds. Stuart was comparatively unknown as a sculler before the race.

WIFE DIVORCES ALDRICH'S SON

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 8. Mary L. D. Aldrich was granted a divorce, with custody of their son Nelson, to-day from Edward B. Aldrich, eldest son of United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, whose petition was denied. She used five years ago.

MUST TRAIN GIRLS, SAYS MRS. RICHARDS

DENVER, Col., July 8.—The need of domestic science and household arts in the elementary schools was one of the chief topics discussed by the speakers on child education in the National Educational Association to-day. Mrs. Ellen H. Richards of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, was the principal speaker.

"The new order of things has come, and women, so far, have not been given the means with which to utilize it," said Mrs. Richards. "The home cannot be industrious without labor—how much labor depends upon the perfection of machinery, and then woman's greater flexibility of light and adaptability of manipulation. She must feel the sense of power over things. The girl needs as much manual training as the boy. We must fully realize the bearing of mechanical and economic changes upon the material surroundings of the home life."

A MOTHER'S ADVICE.

"The only remedy that has helped my children is Father John's Medicine."—Mrs. G. Landros, Malden, Mass.

REID LEADS FOR SCHOOL GOLF HONORS

COMMONWEALTH GOLF CLUB, July 8.—The annual interscholastic golf championship started this morning with a field of thirty-two players. At the end of the qualifying round J. F. Reid of Milton led with 81. The first round of match play took place this afternoon. There were players from all over New England competing for the top honors on the links and the youngsters turned in some good scores. The qualifying results:

J. F. Reid, Milton, 81; F. Cabot, Roxbury St., 91; Schmidt, Worcester, 93; Dana Lowe, Roxbury Latin, 94; A. Lowe, Roxbury Latin, 95; A. Ainsworth, Roxbury High, 95; B. SOUTH END GROUNDS, July 8.—The Doves opened their long home campaign with the St. Louis Cardinals this afternoon, before a fairly large gathering of the Boston bugs. The baseball the Beaneaters team has been playing lately is much better than it was a few weeks ago.

There are four games on the slate to be played with the Cardinals. The Doves have shown a couple of times to visitors in any of the previous series, but there's a chance that this will be stricken this trip.

Roger Bresnahan's club is figuring on jumping into fifth place, as they are close up on the Phillies, and it is a safe bet that the ex-Giant is out for the winning end of all games tied at present. Rogers told his boys to get fit in the batting average, during their stay in Boston and to cop off all the games.

But Big Mike said his team proposed to have a word to say on this matter.

CONFESSES TO FIRING STORE IN AMESBURY

The mystery surrounding the burning of the art store of James Hunter Wright, about a year ago, in Amesbury, and the burning of his art store at another time in Providence, when he collected insurance in both cases, was explained by him in New York to-day, according to leased wire dispatches. Wright set both fires. He also burned his art studio in New York and is now in the Tombs awaiting the action of the Grand Jury. He may get twenty-five years in prison.

Wright's deeds weighed on his conscience, he said, and he told what he had done to a clergyman. He was advised to confess to the police. According to Wright his parents died before he was nine years old and he was brought up in the home of his uncle, an Episcopal clergyman, at Shelburne Falls, Mass.

"I studied to become a civil engineer," Wright said, "but because of defective eyesight I failed. In 1903 I met a man named Harvey in Shelburne Falls, and in 1904 he and I came to New York and opened an art store and studio at No. 2,291 Broadway. We had not been in business more than a year before we got into difficulties and our credit became bad. We owed an advertising agent who was pressing us very hard and unjustly, I thought. In order to defraud him I sent our books to Providence and set the place on fire.

"In Providence, Wright said, he and another man opened an art store and after being in business less than eight months he burned the place, collecting insurance to the amount of $2,000. After the fire in Providence, Wright said, he went to Quebec, where he remained for four weeks, going thence to Spokane, Wash., where he remained only six months, in that time obtaining $2,000 worth of goods from merchants on false pretenses, which he sold, decamping with the money. Later he opened another art store in Amesbury, and at the end of three months, finding the business was not profitable, he set fire to the store, collecting several hundred dollars' insurance.

WOMEN BLAMED FOR MOST EVILS

CHICAGO, July 8.—"Women always were, are now and probably will remain extravagant, socially ambitious, unscrupulous and generally responsible for a large part of the evils of life," said Professor Herbert L. Willett of the University of Chicago Divinity School, in a lecture on the "Social Teachings of the Prophets."

"The moral levels of a nation can never rise higher than its womanhood," said Professor Willett. "Many of the evils of society have been and are due to the social aspirations and extravagance of women."

OPEN-AIR BAZAAR TO AID CHILDREN

As the plans progress for the open-air bazar at Tyler's Crossing on July 15, in aid of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, more interesting and novel features are being announced.

The Flower Booth will be in charge of Mrs. William C. Endicott, jr., assisted by Mrs. John C. Phillips, Mrs. John Tucker man, Miss Hester Lawrence, Mrs. Francis B. Appleton, Mrs. Gordon Dexter, and Mary Lawrence.

HERE'S GOOD JOKE BY OUR WEEKS, M. C.

Congressman John W. Weeks gave an elaborate interview to the Transcript yesterday, on the proposed new tariff.

Was it funny? Well, just read this portion of it:

"Will it be revision upward or downward?" Weeks was asked.

"It will be revision downward.

"Do you mean revision downward from the present tariff?

"Yes; that is just what I mean. There will be a decrease in the duties on some things, and an increase on others. There will be increases on some luxuries."

"Such as what?"

"Well, take yachts, for instance. There will be a duty of 25 per cent on yachts. I believe in such a duty in fact, I do not know but what I suggested it. I had a bill prepared of yachts in actual use in the United States that were purchased abroad. Their value aggregated somewhere between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000. If these yachts had been built in this country it would have furnished business for our shipyards and employment for our men. Yachts are a luxury, pure and simple, and if a man wants to run a yacht he ought to pay the American price for it. So I assume that a duty will be put on yachts at any rate, I hope so. Now, a duty of 25 per cent on yachts would effect a great many small purchases. Some would say: 'There has been no reduction.' But the reductions might be on the necessities of life, and while the increases would be on the luxuries, the increase ought be more than the decrease on any specific item. Hence some would argue, but unfairly, that the tariff had been increased.

"[A duty on yachts made in Europe will certainly help some. So many poor men, who now carry dinner pails, will feel that a great burden has been lifted from them! Who said Massachusetts has not got a real humorist?]

GUARD ASSAILANT IN SHOOTING CASE

A policeman stands guard at the bedside of Harry Fuchs in Emerson Hospital, Forest Hills, ready to arrest him, as soon as he is discharged from the hospital, on a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill Herman Gackes, last Tuesday evening. After the alleged shooting of Gackes, Fuchs shot himself, but his condition is not serious and he will be out of the hospital in a few days. Gackes went to his work yesterday as usual.

TO-DAY'S CABLE NEWS

Up to Midnight, London Time

Suffragettes Are Repulsed by King.

LONDON—King Edward repulsed the suffragettes when he officially refused to grant an interview with their leaders. This may result in turning the war from Premier Asquith upon the royal palace at Buckingham, as the most militant of the suffragettes have already promised to do. The suffragettes wrote to the King asking him to receive a deputation. They received another through the imperial secretary declining the request. The King said in the communication that such an act on his part would be unconstitutional. A petition for an amendment to the English law must be made through the proper channel, namely, the home secretary, said the King. There are already rumblings of fiercer warfare than the women have yet waged, but there are keeping their plans secret.

American Embassy Dinner.

LONDON—The banquet given by the American Embassy Association at the Hotel Cecil was attended by 400 guests. E. Clarence Jones, president of the association, emphasized the importance to the American government of owning a residence in every country to which it sends an Ambassador. There were cheers when he said: "We believe that an opportunity for our government abroad should be called upon to make expenditures from his private fortune, or that it should be necessary for him to have one in order to be enabled to accept the appointment and to maintain the dignity of our government abroad."

American Flag Over Carlsbad.

CARLSBAD—A remarkable incident occurred here on Sunday in connection with the celebration of the Fourth. An American flag was hoisted on the Town Hall by order of the Burgomaster, but the Governor of the district, Prince Edward Lichtenstein, ordered its removal. The Burgomaster hoisted the flag afresh, whereupon the Governor again ordered its removal. This incident occurred several times and was watched with intense interest by the population. Finally the Burgomaster secured the victory, and the flag remained over the Town Hall all day.

King to See Mrs. West's Play.

LONDON—Whatever the merits or demerits of "Ill Borrowed Plumes," by Mrs. George Cornwallis West, the play is getting a big boom from her society friends. The King will attend a performance on Friday, when it is certain that a fashionable crowd will be present. Mrs. West says she wrote the play in a single week, two years ago. She welcomes criticism, however severe, because, although this is her first effort, she does not intend it to be her last.

Big Liners Race in Pacific.

HONOLULU—Shipping men here expect to hear of an exciting race between the Pacific Mail liner Mongolia and the Oceanic steamer Alameda, both of which sailed from here yesterday. The steamers are due at San Francisco next Tuesday at noon. The heaviest betting is on the Mongolia, which is regarded as the swifter boat.

Compromise on German Taxes.

BERLIN—According to some Clerical and Conservative newspapers, the long hostile tension between the government and the Conservative bloc anent taxes has ended in a compromise by which the required $125,000,000 is assured, but the death duties have been eliminated, other taxes being found. It is stated that everything will be arranged by the end of the week.

Abruzzi Scales Mt. Everest.

PARIS—The Turin correspondent of the Echo de Paris says that the Duke of the Abruzzi has penetrated the region of eternal snows in the Himalayas. The party, accompanied by his guides, scaled the loftiest peak of the chain, Mount Everest, the minimum estimate of whose height is 29,002 feet.

Eugenie Not Writing Memoirs.

PARIS—M. Pietri, chief secretary of the Empress Eugenie, has written to the Figaro regarding certain so-called memoirs of Eugenie, stating that the Empress desires it to be known that she never has written and never will write memoirs, and that any publication of this kind must be apocryphal.

Fortune for Old Silver Goblets.

LONDON—Two silver goblets, one inches high, of the date of 1610, were sold at Christie's for $5,900, equivalent to $560 an ounce. A silver inkstand of the year 1615, somewhat mutilated, brought $3,800, or about $170 an ounce.

Woman Gets Paul Jones Damages.

PARIS—Damages to the amount of $1,500 have been awarded to Miss Pailhebie, tenant of a laundry, the walls of which were injured during the search made by General Horace Porter for the body of Paul Jones. She sued to recover $6,000 damages.

Sir Caspar P. Clarke Ill.

HARVARD SCIENTIST TALKS WITH DEAD FRIEND'S SPIRIT

hypothesis. Extraneous 'wills to communicate' may contribute to the results as well as a 'will to personate' and the two kinds of will may be destined in entity, though capable of helping each other out. The will to communicate in our present instance would be, on the prima facie view of it, the will of Hodgson's surviving spirit; and a natural way of representing the process would be to suppose the spirit to have found that by pressing, so to speak, against 'the light' it can make fragmentary gleams and flashes of what it wishes to say mix with the rubbish of trance-talk on this side.

"The two wills might thus strike up a sort of partnership and stir much other up. It might even be that the 'will to personate' would be inert unless it were aroused to activity by the other will. We might imagine the relation to the analogous to that of two physical bodies, from neither of which, when alone, mechanical, thermal, or electrical effects can proceed, but if the other body be present and show a difference of potential, action starts up and goes on apace.

"Will to Communicate" Evident.

"Conceptions such as these seem to consist in schematic form the various elements in the case. Its essential factors are done justice to, and, by changing the relative amounts in which the rubbish-talking and the truth-telling will contribute to the sum-total, we can step up a ladder in which every type of manifestation, from silly plate-lifting up to Rector's test utterance, finds its proper place.

"Personally, I must say that, although I have to confess that no crucial proof of the presence of the 'will to communicate' seems to me yielded by the Hodgson control taken alone, and in the sittings to which I have had access, yet the total effect in the way of dramatic probability of the whole mass of sifting phenomena on my mind is to make me believe that a 'will to communicate' is in some shape there. I cannot demonstrate it, but practically I am inclined to 'go in' for it, to bet on it, and take the risks.

How Hodgson Spoke.

Here are some selections from the Richard Hodgson control's utterances from one of two score sittings with Professor James had himself. The words in parentheses are either the remarks by Professor James or Mrs. James, as indicated. Those without parentheses are the so-called utterances of Dr. Hodgson.

"Well, well, well, well! Well, well, well, well, that's how I am. Good morning, good morning, alike.

"(By Mrs. J.) Good morning, Mr. Hodgson.

"I am right glad to see you all. I am delighted.

"(By Prof. J.) Herald! R. H.! Give us your hand.

"Herald, William! God bless you. How are you?

"(By Prof. J.) First rate!

"Well, I am delighted to see you. Well, have you noticed these goddess ups?

"(By Prof. J.) What goddess do you refer to?

"Did you get my message?

"(By Prof. J.) I got some messages about your sister.

"Did you hear about that argument that I had? You know what I refer to. Did you get all you want, and what it amounted to.

"(By Prof. J.) Why can't you tell me more about the other?

"That is part of my work. I intend to give you better hints of this life than you have been given.

"(By Prof. J.) I hope so!

"It is not a question of hope.

"(By Prof. J.) Hodgson, do you try as we do, as men do?

"What does she say?

"(By Prof. J.) Do you live as we do?

"(By Mrs. J.) Do you wear clothing and live in houses?

"Oh! yes, houses, but not clothing. That is not material.

"(By Prof. J.) You will come back again?

"I have made a statement, I am going to get out.

"(By Prof. J.) You will come back again?

"Yes.

When "R. H." did come back, however, he at once began to talk of something else.

Here is an incident of startling import. James submitted a question:

"By Professor J.: Do you recall any incidents about your going with the children up in the Adirondacks at the Putnam Camp?

"Do you remember—what is that name— Elizabeth Putnam? She came to and I was sitting in a chair before the fire, reading, and she came in and crept up behind me, put her hands over my eyes, and said, 'Who is H?' And do you remember what my answer was?

"By Professor J.: Let me see if you remember it as I do.

"I said: 'Well, it feels like Elizabeth Putnam, but it cannot be.'

"By Professor J.: I think she was right.

Professor James then gives this explanation.

"R. H. quite startled me here because what he said reminded be of an incident which I well remembered. One day at breakfast Martha Putnam (as I recall the fact) had climbed on Hodgson's back, sitting on his shoulders, and clasped her hands over his eyes, saying: 'Who am I?' To which R. H., laughing, had responded: 'It sounds like Martha, but it feels like Henry Bowditch'—the said Henry Bowditch weighing nearly 200 pounds. I find that no one but myself of those who probably were present remembers this incident.

A moment later in the conversation "R. H." gave the name Bowditch further to identify the incident.

James a Noted Scholar.

The persons, past and present, figuring in this latest development in Spiritualism are all noted in latter day efforts to communicate with the spirit world.

Professor William James is sixty-seven years old and was professor of philosophy at Harvard thirty-five years, resigning two years ago. He is one of the foremost investigators of occult phenomena in the world. He has caused endless controversy by some of his radical utterances. His widest views on the subject of "spooks," which he dignified by the term "eccentricity," roused the Prohibitionists to frenzy.

His declaration that education, instead of preventing crime, is responsible for criminals more adroit, brought censure down on his head even from Father Peabody, Elder of Harvard.

Professor James is a brother of Henry James, the novelist, and like him holds high rank in the world of letters.

Dr. James H. Hyslop, mentioned by Professor James in his report, is secretary of the American Society for Psychical Research. has been one of the grand-stand setting investigators of spirit communication with Dr. Hodgson through the mediumship of Mrs. Leonora Piper, the famous New York medium, and others.

Work of Dr. Hodgson.

The late Dr. Richard Hodgson, who died on December 20, 1905, at the age of fifty years, was a native of Australia. He attended Cambridge University, England, and Jena University, Germany, and became a member of the executive council of the English Society for Psychical Research, founded in 1882. He was inclined to be sceptical of most so-called mediums. He went to India to investigate the alleged phenomena of Madame Blavatsky and decided they were fraudulent.

In 1887 he came to this country to become secretary of the American Society for Psychical Research and particularly to investigate the work of Mrs. Leonora Piper, a medium then living in Arlington.

From being a critic of Mrs. Piper Dr Hodgson became one of her champions. His endorsement of her powers so stirred the scientific world that even Professor William James himself admitted that Mrs. Piper's accomplishments were the most absolutely baffling things. Mrs. Piper was sent to England and gave exhibitions before such investigators as Sir William Crookes and other scientists.

Awaiting Spirit Message.

On December 20, 1905, Dr. Hodgson was fatally stricken with heart trouble while playing handball with Charles Fisher at the Union Boat Club.

From the moment that Dr. Hodgson was laid in his grave members of the psychic cult awaited some message from him in the spirit land. It was believed that if there was any truth in or foundation for spiritualistic doctrines, Dr. Hodgson in spirit life would come to the support of his friends on earth with some message from the beyond.

It was said that there was a compact before death between Dr. Hodgson and Mrs. Piper that whichever died first should communicate with the spirit land to the other.

Eighteen days after Dr Hodgson's death Mrs. Piper was quoted as saying that he had appeared to her apparently in the flesh.

On January 28, 1906, five weeks after Dr. Hodgson's death, the psychic world was stirred by news that the spirit of Dr. Hodgson had sent a message to Dr. Isaac K. Funk, the New York publisher, through the mediumship of Mrs. Dr. Frederick A. Wiggin of Unity Church, during a session in Jordan Hall.

That 'Message' to Dr. Funk.

Dr. Wiggin acted as medium as usual when the seance began. Soon he announced the presence of Dr. Hodgson's spirit. The spirit, according to the medium, sent a message to Dr. Funk that the spirit had met Dr. Funk's wife; that his wife in spirit loved him, and that his wife had died from injuries received in a fall while trying to adjust some window curtains.

The spirit also said, according to Dr. Wiggin, that Dr. Funk was to receive other messages locked in a vault in London.

A heated psychic controversy started. Dr. Funk repudiated the messages purporting to come through Dr. Wiggin. Dr. Funk said that there was no such vault in the first place, and that the description of his wife's death was not correct in any particular, if anything.

Three weeks later Dr. Wiggin announced he had been the medium for a second message from Dr. Hodgson. It contained 16 errors in the first message. But Dr. Funk still repudiated Wiggin.

Meanwhile Dr. Funk declared he had received messages from Dr. Hodgson through the mediumship of Mrs. May Pepper, head of the First Spiritualist Church of Brooklyn.

ALFRED HENRY LEWIS will tell in the SUNDAY AMERICAN another of his fascinating East Side New York stories.

BALLOON SEEN IN MAINE DRIFTS TO SEA

PORTLAND, Me., July 8.—A large balloon seen going over Biddeford at first supposed to be in trouble and to be in direction toward this city, but afterward it shifted and sailed away to the southwest at a high altitude, which would take it over Kennebunkport, a coast town. Charles K. Fellows of the Saco Lumber Company, who saw the balloon through a powerful glass, stated that the basket was painted white with a dark stripe running vertically, and thought it was approaching from the direction of Portland. It was passing toward the coast and out to sea.

You'll enjoy a cup of Iced "Salada" Tea. The most delicious and refreshing beverage in hot weather. **

WOMEN AT NEWPORT TO SWIM RACE

NEWPORT, July 8.—A swimming race for the woman's championship of Newport is being arranged to take place late this month or early in August.

There are many good swimmers among the society maids and matrons, and a half dozen or so of the better ones will have it out with overland or crawl strokes.

So far the entrants in the race are Mrs. Lorillard Spencer, Mrs. Barger Wadsch, Miss Eleanora Sears, Miss Edna Barger, Miss Margaret Ross and Miss Vera Gilbert.

Last Summer Miss Gilbert, who will no doubt be the favorite in the betting for this contest, swam a splendid race from Bailey's Beach to Easton's against James de Wolf Cutting. Miss Edna Barger, however, has shown performances quite as worthy, and she is expected to be close up if not in the lead, at the finish.

This Week

we shall continue our Mid-Summer Mark-down Sale of odd and broken lots of Men's and Boys' Clothing which opened on Tuesday.

Men's Sack Suits
Reduced to
$15, $20, $25, $30

Youths' Sack Suits

BOSTON BOYS START IN GLOBE CIRCLING RACE

They're off! The first of the BOSTON AMERICAN globe girdlers, Benjamin Morris, with his escort, Peter Cohen, left the South Station at 12:01 o'clock this morning for New York and at 10 o'clock sailed aboard the French liner Savoie for Paris.

The race to circle the globe in the shortest possible time is now on in earnest. At New York Morris and Cohen caught the Eastward bound team from Chicago, headed by Charles C. Fitzmorris, the holder of the sixty-day record, and it was with an advantage of nine and one half hours in actual elapsed time over the Chicago brigade that the two teams sailed from New York.

It will be a great race. The Chicago team reached New York on the Twentieth Century Limited, probably one of the fastest trains in the world, but their effort was all in vain, because the Bostonians had the advantage in distance to be conquered.

The New England team had three hours in New York, but even with that hour of time, they held the inside edge over the Westerners.

The Los Angeles team is not due in New York until Saturday morning and are scheduled to sail the same day, but they started from their home three days ago and they will probably not catch the Boston team until they meet in the Orient, if then.

Morris and Cohen got a warm send off at the South Station, despite the late hour of their leaving. Mr. and Mrs. Moses Morris, of No. 101 Wamsieck street, parents of the former, were on hand to see their son sail.

In the party to see them off were several of the members of the rival teams, the most prominent among these is W. Sullinger, the other member of the eastward bound team, who is not scheduled to start until next Monday at midnight.

Boys Given Great Send Off.

A crowd gathered at the South Station to see the boys start on their long and interesting journey. The boys were supplied with American flags and there was a great cheer from the crowd as the train pulled out of the shed, with the boys in the vestibule of their sleeper, waving the American flags which they carried.

The boys were well supplied with credentials assuring a safe and rapid journey around the earth. They carried passports which will give them easy access to the realms of the Mikado and the Czar, all of which had been duly vised by the Consul-Generals of those governments at New York.

Also they bear letters from the State Department at Washington which will serve to pave the way for them wherever there is a diplomatic representative of Uncle Sam.

To-day the four schoolgirl winners in the race-around-the-world contest are well on their way for their forty-nine days of sight-seeing in the storied capitals of the old World. They sailed from Boston yesterday afternoon on the Leyland liner Canadian for Liverpool.

The four girls and their escorts were given a royal send-off at the dock. A party of friends went down in the harbor in a tug chartered by Louis B. Sullivan of Dorchester, father of Miss Ida M. Sullivan, one of the winners. Over 100 friends of the winners were aboard the tug.

The tour party included the following: Miss Ida M. Sullivan, leader in the girls' contest, with Mrs. B. F. Sullivan as chaperone; Miss Elvian Hald of Brookline and her mother, Mrs. A. H. Hald, as chaperone; Miss Lillian M. Ray, the Boston Elevated Railway candidate, with Miss Maud Scheerer as chaperone, and Miss Grace E. Foss of Lynn, with her mother as chaperone. The party was in charge of Walter H. Woods.

Thanks to American.

Miss Sullivan, leader in the contest, summed up the feeling of the four girls when she said just before the steamer sailed:

"It really seems too good to be true, to think that our four girls and our chaperones are starting away. Think of the glorious time we will have. We are all so pleased. Why, that word doesn't express it. We are grateful to the BOSTON AMERICAN and to our friends who helped us so royally.

"This tour will be like another education for us all. We will visit the places of which we have read. The trip will teach us and broaden us. It is a rare chance for any girl, making a trip like this under such favorable conditions and in such congenial company.

"Think of the places we will see—London, Paris, Switzerland, the Rhine, Switzerland and Italy—Oh, I can't believe hardly that I shall go to all those wonderful places. But here we are."

Miss Sullivan stopped for sheer joy and just smiled. The other girls smiled their joyous sympathy. Other passengers, attracted by the bright-eyed coterie, smiled, too, as they sailed away.

A brief itinerary of the trip for the girls is as follows: Liverpool, Chester, Stratford-on-Avon, Warwick, London, Paris, Cologne, the Rhine, Mayence, Switzerland, Milan, Venice, Florence, Rome, Naples, Pompeii, Gibraltar, Naples, and sail for New York. They are due back in New York on Tuesday, August 24, on the Cunarder Carpathia.

The westward-bound team from Boston will be the next to leave. H. A. Whitman, accompanied by Dr. A. K. Noyes, and the business brothers—Carl, the winner, and Michael, his escort—will start on their westward jaunt at 1:05 o'clock to-morrow afternoon. L. W. Sullinger, leader in the boys' contest, and S. Sullinger, his manager and escort, will leave at midnight next Monday. They will be the last of the tourists to get away.

The boys who are to start during the coming week are determined to make records for themselves. It is felt among them and their friends that one of the Boston teams will surely capture the honor. All the Boston winners are sturdy, energetic and capable lads. This was shown by the way they hustled in the contest.

This series of trips constitutes a Marathon race around the world, something new in the glorious annals of human endeavor. The fastest trains, the speediest steamers, the best transportation facilities obtainable are being employed to hurry the boys along.

There are other competitions, too, besides the inter-city ones. The eastward and westward boys from New England will strive to out do one another. The westward bound lads have one day on the eastward because they travel toward the setting sun.

To offset this handicap however, the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company, on whose express steamer, Empress of Japan, the boys sail from Vancouver, has promised to run a day from its regular schedule on the western trip.

All the boys are scheduled to get back to Boston about August 20. Till then the race is uncertain.

BEVERLY AIR HEALTH AID TO MRS. TAFT

By FRED J. M'ISAAC,
Special Representative of the Boston American at Beverly.

BEVERLY, July 8.—Mrs. Taft is improving very rapidly, and since she has arrived in Beverly her progress is noticeable. She is increasing the length of her drive every day and it is having good results. She is almost restored to health."

Dr. M. A. De Lany, U. S. A., the Taft family physician, made this statement to me to-day. Those who have seen Mrs. Taft on her daily ride can readily believe it. There is color in her cheek and her eye is bright.

Dr. De Lany has been the Taft physician for nearly three years. When President Taft was Secretary of War he attended his family, and the President did not change his doctor when he moved into the White House.

Doctor From the Army.

Dr. De Lany is living at a Beverly hotel, and drives over to Burgess Point every morning about 9 o'clock. He is tall and clean shaven and appears to be under forty years of age.

"I have been in the service about ten years," he told the reporter. "I served my time in the Philippines and had my share of post duty, but I have been stationed in Washington recently."

The doctor is reticent about the professional successes which brought him to the front rank of army doctors and made his reputation in the medical profession. He is known as a physician of great skill, and the President has full confidence in him.

He is a Philadelphia man and received his education in Philadelphia institutions.

"Naturally I think Philadelphia a splendid city, but I must admit that Boston is a delightful town also. Indeed there are many points of resemblance between the two cities, although it is harder to find one's self around in Boston. Things seem so staid and settled in Boston. You have such beautiful parks and the streets. The climate in the Summer is delightful also. I find Beverly a pleasant place to reside. The President has probably the finest spot in town, but it is cool and restful everywhere. I know Mrs. Taft likes it very much, and Charlie Taft is enjoying himself immensely."

Charlie Catches a Cod.

Charlie Taft has proved himself an expert angler. He was fishing with a hand line over the side of the Sylph and had met with poor success. He was chatting with some of the sailors, when the line was pulled from his hands with a force that skinned them. He held on for dear life and braced his foot against the bulwark.

"I can handle him. Let me alone," he cried when the crew proffered to help him, and he began to play the fish.

The cod is not the noblest salmon. He simply pulls as hard as he can and then gives up. For a few minutes there was a tug of war. Charlie hung on like grim death until the fish gave in. Then he hauled him in slowly and shouted with delight when he dragged a cod nearly two feet long out of the water. The fish weighed fully ten pounds and Charlie took it home in triumph and had the cook fry a few cod steaks for supper.

JOAN OF ARC AT ORPHEUM

The first indoor production that Boston has ever had of the famous classic, "Joan of Arc," will take place at the Orpheum Theatre week after next, the presentation being given by the all-star cast of the Lindsay Morison stock company.

No piece of recent years has caused the comment that "Joan of Arc" has. This is in a great measure due to the wonderful production given it by Miss Adams. Its presentation at the Stadium marked an epoch in out-door spectacles, and its presentation at the Orpheum Theatre is sure to mark an epoch in dramatic productions. There will be 125 people on the stage, and as far as possible the big spectacles and thrilling climaxes will be retained. Miss Edna Bruns will essay the role of Joan, and all the other Morison favorites will be seen to the cast.

MAN'S ENEMY TORTURES COW

Pursued by an unknown enemy, who, he says, has tried four times within a month to kill his cow, and last night set fire to his barn, Donald McKay, a builder, living at No. 45 Harris road, West Newton, today appealed to the police for protection.

McKay says that he has been at odds with some of his neighbors since a year ago, when he applied to the Board of Health for a permit to keep a cow in his barn. His neighbors remonstrated, and the application was denied. McKay kept the cow in his barn, however, until he was notified by the board to desist. He then kept her in a neighbor's barn, a short distance from his land.

During the warm weather the cow was turned out on McKay's land at night. On the morning of June 11, when he went to milk her, she was tethered to a tree with a slip noose round her neck, which nearly strangled her. Two such similar attempts were made.

BELLE IN '400' WEDS IN PARIS

NEWPORT, R. I., July 8.—Great interest was manifested by society here to-day when cable dispatches from abroad telling of the marriage of Mrs. Helene de Cordova, one of the most beautiful members of the New York "400," to Antonio Figuria d'Almeida, were received.

The marriage took place in Paris on July 5 and was described as one of the most portentious affairs of the season. Many Americans visiting in Paris and close acquaintances of the bride attended the ceremony, following which the couple began a honeymoon trip of the continent. They will visit the United States later in the year.

Madam, See How Much You Are Losing

The raw milk you serve is germ-laden. The raw milk you cook with is only a half-milk. And see what you miss in convenience. Yet you pay more for this milkman's milk than your neighbors pay for Van Camp's.

Some day you will quit the milkman as scores of your neighbors have done.

You will buy Van Camp's Milk by the case, and have your own cow in the kitchen.

You will do this when you cook one dish with Van Camp's; when you learn what milk should be.

We are trying to hurry the day for your own sake. You are missing more than you know.

But the day will come anyway. Up-to-date women won't cling to out-of-date ways.

No Disease Germs

The bane of raw milk is disease germs. For any germ in milk breeds with frightful rapidity.

There may be germs of consumption from tubercular cows, which are common. Infections may come from diseased milkmen or from dirty dairies.

These germs make raw milk the most terrible foe of humanity. For one thing, two-thirds our infant mortality is due to them.

Van Camp's milk is germless.

Our cows are inspected; so are the men who milk them. Our dairies are sanitary. Our buildings are built without wood. We make a business of cleanliness.

Then Van Camp's is pasteurized after the cans are sealed. Not a germ of any kind can remain in it.

Nothing But Milk

Van Camp's is simply rich Holstein milk, with two-thirds the water evaporated. Nothing whatever is added. Nothing is subtracted save water.

It's not a peculiar milk.

Our cows are the finest breed. Our dairies are in the best dairying sections. Our milk is evaporated while it is fresh.

That slight almond flavor—apparent only when the milk is drunk cold—is due to sterilization. It means nothing added. It indicates simple purity.

When you heat the milk—as in cooking or coffee—the almond flavor disappears. You have then the natural flavor of milk or cream, save our surprising richness.

Six Cents Per Quart

Van Camp's is as thick as thick cream—so thick that you add one part water for coffee. Yet it doesn't cost half what you pay your milkman for cream.

Add two parts water and you have rich milk. The cost of such milk, when you buy Van Camp's by the case, is but six cents per quart.

Then you have no waste—no milk left over. That saving, in itself, is enormous.

So you have a cow in your kitchen—rich milk or cream whenever you want it. And it costs less than hand-to-month buying.

You have a pure, rich milk for less than you pay your milkman.

Matchless Milk Dishes

Just make one milk dish with Van Camp's. Note the wonderful flavor and richness. Then you'll forever use it.

Yet that flavor is not artificial. It comes solely from the whole, rich milk.

You are used to cooking with half-milk—you who buy from the milkman. For milkman's milk separates, before and after you get it.

The butter fat rises; the solids fall. You get so you don't know what whole milk means.

You get all the milk in Van Camp's.

But Be Careful

Condensed milk is half sugar. You can't use it for cooking. Don't think that Van Camp's is like that.

And don't think that all evaporated milks are alike.

Van Camp's Milk shows about 8 per cent of butter fat. That's because we use Holstein milk, and take out two-thirds the water.

But milk less rich, and with more water left in, may still be called "evaporated."

If you'll compare Van Camp's with other brands, you will see what a difference there is. Yet others cost as much as Van Camp's.

Van Camp's Milk comes in 5 and 10-cent cans, at your grocer's. It is put up at our dairies, in five states, where we milk 20,000 Holstein cows.

HOW MUCH BEEF CAN YOU EAT?

Who are the big eaters of Boston?

New York comes forward today with a man who ate nine and three-quarter pounds of steak at one sitting. His name is Philip Gemmel and he weighs 270 pounds.

How many men in Boston are there who can equal this record?

And how many men in Boston are there who can afford to eat that much steak at one meal?

MOTHER SLAIN IN SAVING SON

NEW YORK, July 8.—In a struggle with an armed burglar to save the life of her son George early to-day, Mrs. Sophie Stalner, wife of George Stalner, a wealthy tailor, with offices at No. 127 Duane street, Manhattan, was shot and almost instantly killed to-day in her home at No. 453 East Eighteenth street, in the fashionable Parkville section of Flatbush.

The shot which killed his mother tore through young Stalner's shirt. It was fired at such close range that the flames burned his face.

At least a dozen shots were fired during the struggle, and one of the burglars, who gained an entrance to the house is known to have been hit.

There was a trail of blood through the hallway leading from the front entrance through which the burglars escaped.

Young Stalner was awakened by the sound of someone forcing a window on the first ground floor. From the door of his bedroom, at the head of the stairway leading to the second floor, he saw a man climb through the window and start up the stairs. Stalner shouted to him to stop. Instead the burglar pulled his revolver and continued ascending the stairs.

"If you move I'll kill you," Stalner rushed down the stairs and grappled with the intruder. The latter was in grab of a revolver, and during the struggle a shot was accidentally fired.

RELIC OF JOHN BROWN.

NEENAH, Wis., July 8.—The powder horn carried by John Brown in the historic raid at Harper's Ferry has been discovered in the possession of John Wheeler, a war veteran of this city. The horn will be sent to Washington as a gift for the museum with other historical relics.

CINDERELLA AT WONDERLAND

Beginning next Monday night the beautiful fairy spectacle "Cinderella" will be given at Wonderland, absolutely free every evening at 8 o'clock on the open-air arena.

Irene Martin, recently of the Castle Square company, will play Cinderella. Miss Martha Hale will be Prince Salermo, and the jealous sisters will be impersonated by the Misses Blanche Benton and Margaret Meredith.

About fifty will participate in the great ballroom scene. The production will be under the care of James Gilbert, while Professor Walter O'Neil will be dancing master.

This will be in season for the visit of the SUNDAY AMERICAN Outing Club to Wonderland next week. On Monday and Tuesday they will be supplied with free tickets (coupons appear in SUNDAY AMERICAN to the number of fourteen) two for the introduction of the Cinderella spectacle show, and the other twelve, half-fare tickets to Wonderland's leading attractions.

During vacation season children under twelve years of age are admitted to Wonderland free if accompanied by adults. The combination ticket giving free park shows and admission for fifty cents has proved a big success and will probably be continued throughout the season.

The SUNDAY AMERICAN'S free tickets are being used by thousands. For Tuesday forty flocks of Greater Boston the park season has only just commenced, and a SUNDAY AMERICAN in advance and make sure of the free tickets for the young people.

ARREST AUSTRIAN TROOPS.

LONDON, July 8.—A Belgrade dispatch says that 200 Austrian soldiers and gendarmes who were found organizing a Servian brigade in the River Drina have been formally arrested.

CANADA FLAG INSULTS EVEN

TORONTO, July 8.—As a result of a disgraceful drive by a horse and carriage through the streets of Toronto with two British flags tied to the axles and trailing in the dust, Mayor Oliver issued an order to-day empowering policemen to arrest in the future such disrespectful visitors.

A deputation of aldermen, controllers, ex-mayors and members of the Orange Order waited on and demanded action against the Americans. The tally-ho's seats and whips were covered with American flags and a trumpeter peered at the Union Jacks in the rondway.

"The Star Spangled Banner" will never again be heard in the dining room of the fashionable Clifton hotel, on the Canadian side of the Niagara river at Maple Falls. The American whist congress opened its annual convention after four days on Saturday evening dinner Sunday evening. The orchestra struck up the patriotic air. George Major, the proprietor of the hotel, who is a son-in-law of Sir James Grant, physician to Princess Louise, sat with his wife at a table near the orchestra.

When the Americans rose and sang the chorus one of the visitors twitted Mr. Major for his lack of patriotism. He arose and walked over to the orchestra. What was said is not known, but the orchestra soon changed its tune and struck up "The Maple Leaf," Canada's national anthems. As a result of Mr. Major's visit to the American anthem between Princess Louise, sat with his wife at a table near the orchestra.

MRS. ANDERSON BOYS' HOSTESS

Mrs. Larz Anderson is to-day making many friends among the boys of the West End Home in Eaton street the happiest little fellows in the world. The boys are her guests at her estate in Brookline.

Bright and early to-day street cars took the lads from the West End House to the home of their hostess, who escorted them through the grounds, cutting flowers for them and telling them that the whole place was their very own for the day.

She showed the boys through the stables and allowed them to ride her favorite ponies and saddle horses. There were baseball games, running races and all sorts of athletic sports, over which Mrs. Anderson presided and decided the winners.

At noon lunch was spread under the big trees in the lawn, and the hungry, happy boys ate ample justice.

ADAMS HOUSE MAN MYSTERIOUSLY GONE

John White, for fifteen years a night watchman up in Adams House, is missing from his home, No. 264 Athens street, South Boston, and his wife and six children are desperate over the mysterious disappearance. White, her husband was paid off Monday. He came home to supper, and while he put on his best clothes and a new pair of shoes left the house without saying where he was going or saying where he was going and she has seen him since. He left no money nor food for himself and the children. White is employed by the city in the Conference of 81 Vincent de Paul on E street. She also visited the Boston Court. From there she was sent to the Home for the Aged. Association in Charlies, she says, who told her that it would be a day or two before she could receive assistance.

FREE TICKETS TO WHITE CITY

Here is good news for Worcester and all readers of the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN within trolley distance of the pleasure resort, White City, located on the shore of the famous Lake Quinsigamond at the suburbs of the city of Worcester.

The SUNDAY AMERICAN has made arrangements with Frank Bigelow, who controls White City, by which a free ticket agreement between this newspaper and White City Park will begin next week, giving the public forty-five cents' worth of free tickets every day if the free tickets published in next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN for White City are used according to directions.

White City has some of the best park attractions in New England. Its scenic railway, merry-go-round, ball grounds, air ships, Paradise, Eden Maze and the $30,000 open air theatre are unsurpassed. Mr. Bigelow has worked hard to make this the foremost amusement park of southern New England.

Admission to the park is free to all. The paid attractions are ranged about the park grounds with prices at 5c, 10c and 20c each as a central figure. White City is but a 5 cent ride from Worcester and within reach of all surrounding cities and towns.

The next Sunday's BOSTON AMERICAN there will be published seven free tickets for White City, to be used on Monday or Tuesday, day or evening. One for ten-cent admission to the theatre is absolutely free. One for ten cent ride in the wonderful old mill is absolutely free. There are five three-cent tickets, half-fare coupons. At the merry-go-round two rides will be given for a nickel and a ticket. At Paradise, the rinkies, Eden Maze and the airships a nickel and a nickel give the value of ten cents. See the announcements and watch for the Sunday free tickets.

AUTO GASOLINE UP ONE CENT

The Standard Oil Company has advanced auto naphtha and gasoline one cent. Auto naphtha is now quoted at 13½c, and 86 degrees gasoline at 22½c. The rise was expected, as the merchant in the oil used by automobiles and launches has been very heavy incidental to the increasing number of the latter in commission.

It is said that for the first time on record the Standard Oil Company has drawn upon its reserve supply of gasoline and naphtha, the consumption being greater than the output. The estimated sales of gas engine products last year were 1,000,000 barrels.

NEWSDEALERS HAVE OUTING AT NANTASKET

The Suburban Newsdealers' Association, the men who distribute the newspapers in the towns of eastern Massachusetts, went down to Nantasket to-day on their annual Summer outing. More than a hundred members with their wives and sweethearts were in the party that left Rowes' Wharf on the 10:20 boat.

They landed at Pemberton and took special care to Fort Revere, where, through the courtesy of Commander Long, they were permitted to inspect the coast defence armament and see the big guns that are to play such an important part in the war game this Summer. About an hour was spent at the fort before the party again boarded special cars for the Nantasket House where dinner was served.

Day at the Beach.

After dinner the party broke up into small groups to "do the beach." All the attractions were patronized liberally and several of the members from the inland towns took advantage of the chance to a dip in the surf.

During the latter part of the afternoon many of the party went over to Hingham to see the points of historic interest. They were to return in time for supper at Nantasket.

Owing to the fact that a number of the members were from towns sufficiently distant to require an early start for home there was no "official" supper or return trip planned. Those living near Boston, however, planned to stay at the beach until one of the late boats in the evening.

Group Picture Taken.

Just before dinner an official photographer took a picture of the group, which will be distributed among the members.

The committee in charge of the outing spared no pains or effort to make it a great success and were warmly rewarded by their fellow members. They were: Frank P. Dyer, Arlington, (chairman) A. Peterson, Rockland; J. J. Eliot, South Framingham; N. E. Wilber, West Medford; A. W. Rice, Stoneham.

LAD SAVED LIFE BY LEAPING ON FENDER

By throwing himself on the fender of an outward bound Highland avenue car, at the corner of Cross and Webster streets, Somerville, eight-year-old Franklin Phoenix of No. 20 Everett avenue, Somerville, saved his life. The lad was crossing the street in the rear of an inward bound car and stepped in the path of the outward bound one. Policeman George Smith, who was riding on the platform, yelled to the lad, who realized his position and threw himself on to the fender.

WEEKLY WHIST FOR CONSUMPTIVES' AID

Fielding and Fisher and "The Juggling" de Lisle go on at the Hub Theatre today for the balance of the week. New songs and pictures are given.

A change of songs and picture program is made at the Globe Theatre to-day for the rest of the week. The bill is unusually strong.

Montgomery and the Healy Sisters, novelty singers and dancers, are features of the long program at the New Palace Theatre.

The Naples Troubadours, Young Sharkey in lag punching, Sculptor Dupan and a new bill for the Manhattan Girls are at Austin & Stone's.

Many tourists are taking the special trolley which leaves Postoffice square at 2:30 p. m. week days for the trolley-boat trip to New York.

The steamer King Philip, Captain Dixon, makes daily runs to the Revere Beach grounds, leaving Commercial Wharf at 10 a. m.

The great Lamberti in his impersonations of famous composers is an artistic treat at the open-air theatre in Normbeg Park.

Gloucester and Cape Ann boats sail from Central Wharf daily for a delightful sail up the North Shore by President Taft's Summer home.

The deepsea fishing steamer Satellite, Captain Sorenson, sails daily and Sunday at 10 a. m., from Central Wharf to good fishing grounds.

Bigney, the high diver, makes a 150-foot dive into a shallow tank twice a day at Paragon Park this week.

Bass Point boats sail on nearly hourly schedule from Otis Wharf for attractive Summer resorts.

BRIDE GREETS NAVY PRISONER IN COURTROOM

A dramatic scene occurred in the corridor of the United States Federal court today when the pretty eighteen-year-old bride of Arthur G. Haskins o Quincy met her husband of nie days and threw her arms about his neck and kissed him.

This was the first meeting of the two since detectives snatched the young bride groom from his wife's side four hours after they were married in Providence. He is now a prisoner of the United States navy aboard the receiving ship Wabash at the Charlestown Navy Yard, charged with being a deserter.

The court proceedings before Judge Dodge were brief, the case being continued until next Tuesday because of the non-arrival of the records from Washington.

Bridal Pair Allowed to Talk.

After the proceedings Captain Charles E. Fox, commandant of the Wabash, allowed the young bride and her husband to talk for half an hour before taking blue back to the navy yard. When the half hour was up Chief Master-at-Arms Edward Sheehy of the Wabash led Haskins away. The bride followed, going with him to Atlantic avenue, where a launch was boarded. The bride again kissed and hugged her husband on parting, and as the launch receded from the landing she burst into tears.

"It's awful," she said. "Now I've got to wait until next Tuesday. That will be an eternity. I walked the floor half the night last night thinking of good Arthur and I finally cried myself to sleep. Since this trouble started I've lost from fifteen to twenty pounds and Arthur has lost ten pounds worrying over it. And to think that he was arrested right through spite and jealousy of my mother-in-law or a former sweetheart of his who was angry because he and I were married."

In Court With Friend.

Mrs. Haskins was accompanied to court by her friend, Mrs. F. E. Carter, of No. 217 Farrington street, Wollaston, whom she is visiting. The young man's father, Captain Robert Haskins of the Providence fire department, was also present and had a talk with him.

Young Haskins said: "I know who caused my arrest. It was either my mother-in-law or a former sweetheart, both of whom were sore against me and were the only ones in Quincy who knew I was a deserter."

The whole case depends on when Haskins was enlisted. The statute of limitations provides that a deserter must be prosecuted within two years after his enlistment expires. Haskins says his enlistment expired in October, 1906. The government says it expired in October, 1907.

Young Haskins was arrested four hours after his marriage to Miss Alice Thayer, an eighteen-year-old Quincy girl, who has lived with her widowed mother at No. 34 Revere road. Haskins was snatched from his bride as they were about to enter the home of a friend in Wollaston after eloping to Providence.

Girl Makes Statement.

Miss Beatrice Chaple, a pretty young woman of twenty-two, living at No. 255 Water street, Quincy, Mass., with whom Haskins formerly kept company for two years, told a BOSTON AMERICAN reporter that she was anxious to make a statement in regard to the case. Here is her statement:

"I had kept company with Mr. Haskins for two years, up to about one year ago, when we began going with Miss Thayer. I was not jealous of Miss Thayer and I did not care whom Mr. Haskins married.

"While he was keeping company with me he told me about deserting the navy six months after he enlisted, six years ago. I have not told the story to any one except my mother and relatives, and they have not divulged the secret to any one."

DR. CLARK AGAIN ENDEAVORERS HEAD

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 8.—The Rev. Francis E. Clark, D. D., LL. D., was reelected president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, of which he was the founder and which was reported as having a net enrolment of 71,409 societies and 3,551,100 members. The other officers reelected are: General Secretary, William Shaw; treasurer, H. N. Lathrop; editorial secretary, Professor Amos R. Wells; publication manager, G. B. Graff; superintendent of patriotic league, George W. Coleman; superintendent of builders union, Rev. H. P. Anderson.

DIVORCE SUIT LED TO DOCTOR'S DEATH

Dr. Louis L. Hirsch, an osteopath, who until recently had an office in this city, committed suicide in a room in a Stamford, Ct., hotel by taking gas. He is thought to have ended his life while temporarily deranged, following difficulties with his wife, against whom he filed suit for annulment of marriage on grounds of melancholia and fraud five weeks ago.

Hirsch was about thirty years old and had been a guest of the hotel for the past two weeks, registering as from Wilkesbarre, Pa. He avoided the other guests to a noticeable extent and finally disappeared from sight altogether.

GLOUCESTER WARS ON PEANUT STANDS

GLOUCESTER, July 8.—Peanut roasters and fruit stands in the streets here have brought about a difference of opinion between Mayor Parsons and Alderman Merchant. The latter demands their removal, while the former declares that they shall be permitted to remain in each instance where the owner has paid $1 for a license and filed a $1,000 bond.

Alderman Merchant has asked that the city engineer prepare plans of obstructions on Main street, and intimates that he will seek to take action that may lead to the removal of clocks, hitching posts, etc., as well as the peanut roasters.

RING REVEALS A WEDDING SECRET

The secret marriage of the son of an Everett alderman and a prominent young woman of North Everett has just been revealed by the inadvertent wearing of a wedding ring by the bride on a trolley ride.

The young benedict is Charles A. Furness, Jr., son of Alderman Charles A. Furness. The bride was Miss Charlotte A. Pontefract, daughter of William and Mary E. Pontefract of No. 4 Porter street, North Everett.

Composer Puccini; Wife Who Caused Tragedy

PUCCINI'S WIFE JAILED; DROVE GIRL TO DEATH

LUCCA, Italy, July 8.—The curtain fell to-day on real life tragedy in the career of Giacomo Puccini, the opera composer that was quite as pathetic as the stage story of Cho-Cho San the little Japanese heroine of Puccini's masterpiece "Madame Butterfly." It was a story, too, that was not greatly dissimilar to Cho-Cho San's.

The climax, which has set all Italy to recalling the tragic affair and to exclaiming, "Ah, what an opera it would make," came when Signora Elvira Bonturi Puccini, the composer's wife, was sentenced in court to serve five months in prison for having caused the suicide of Doria Manfredi, a beautiful little serving maid in her villa.

She accused Doria of being Puccini's mistress. The girl, a peasant, was scarcely more than a child, crept out of the villa and swallowed poison. An autopsy proved that the girl was blameless.

Cho-Cho San In Real Life.

Americans remember reading the story of "Madame Butterfly." Lieutenant, Pinkerton, an American naval officer, fell in love with Cho-Cho San, who likewise was a beautiful child. His love was platonic, hers was real. They were wedded after the Japanese custom, he knowing that the marriage would not hold; she believing it eternal.

He was called home and married an American girl, who forgave his life with Cho-Cho San. They returned to Japan to a honeymoon, and the bride offered to bring up as her own the baby of the Oriental girl. Cho-Cho San, until then believing absolutely that her husband would come back to her, cast herself upon the honorable sword of her father.

That was the tale of the Cho-Cho San. This is the affair of Doria Manfredi. Her father was a humble peasant upon the grand estate of Puccini. To him and the other tenants Puccini was the greatest man in the world.

Took Orphaned Girl Into Home.

The children were brought up to revere him as a most noble signor. It was a great honor when he placed his hands upon their small heads. Doria, from her toddling age, was his chief pet. Even as a baby she was the most beautiful upon the place. Puccini made her many little gifts and called her his own Madama baby.

Two years ago, when the girl was blossoming into a most fascinating woman hood, her father died, leaving her homeless and in want. Peasant-like, she turned to the "grand signor"—the famous composer—for protection.

He took her into his villa as serving maid, with the consent of his wife.

Doria became as useful about the villa as she was ornamental. She seemed as devoted to Signora Puccini as she was to the composer. But at last the signora herself, of peasant origin and no beauty, either young or beautiful, became jealous and suspicious of the pleasing little serving maid.

Accused Girl a Suicide.

One day not long ago she made open accusation that Doria's interest in Puccini was greater than that of a servant to a master. "Signor," said the girl, "Always has been kind to me, like my father that is gone, no more than that."

"No need lie to me" exclaimed the composer's wife. She threw the girl out and full in the face.

Doria shocked, humiliated and heartbroken made her way tearfully from the villa. Within an hour a little body floated in the grounds her beautiful face contorted from the agony of poison.

Puccini, when he heard of his protege's death, had a bitter quarrel with his wife in the grounds her beautiful face contorted from the agony of poison.

Puccini, when he heard of his protege's death, had a bitter quarrel with his wife and separated from her at once. When the authorities inquired into the suicide they told them what he knew. Signora Puccini was arrested and was tried, adjudged guilty and sentenced to prison. She will also have to pay to the surviving relatives of Doria Manfredi the sum of 10,000 lire, exact amount to be determined later by the court.

Dramatic justice, surely. And—what a chance for an opera.

ROCKEFELLER IS 70 TO-DAY

CLEVELAND, July 8.—Plans for the celebration of John D. Rockefeller's seventieth birthday anniversary to-day included only the usual routine.

Golf made up a part of the day's program, with a dinner at the Forest Hill home, to which close relatives alone were invited.

Birthday celebrations are not Mr. Rockefeller's favorite form of amusement, though a gathering of close friends holds much of enjoyment for him, to judge by past gatherings at Forest Hill.

KANSAS FLOOD RELIEF COMES

KANSAS CITY, July 8.—Flood conditions in Missouri and Kansas were vastly improved to-day. Except at Kansas City, where the Kansas and Missouri rivers converge, most streams to this part of the southwest were receding.

In northwestern Missouri in the vicinity of Pattonsburg, where several thousand people have been driven from their homes, it is believed all have now been placed upon safe grounds. Many in this district are without homes, however, and suffering great discomforts, but relief in the way of food and clothing, rushed in from surrounding points, is being distributed systematically.

BOSTON SHAM WAR CENTRE

Major-General Leonard Wood, U. S. A., and Adjutant-General Brigham of the Massachusetts militia, returned to-day from their trip to select the site for the sham battle in which the regular troops and militia are to engage this Summer. The site for the battle will be somewhere between Boston and New Bedford on a line drawn through Middleboro. It is probable that the opposing armies will make their headquarters in Boston and New Bedford.

The trip of inspection covered two and one-half days in automobiles and by train. In addition to General Wood and Brigham the party included General Pew, Colonel Heistand, U. S. A.; Lieutenant-Colonel Crookett, U. S. A.; Major Cobb, Captain Davis, U. S. A., and Lieutenant Pollen, U. S. A. After returning to Boston, General Wood made a brief call upon Governor Draper and then departed for Hartford, Ct. He will be in New York to-night.

MEYER DENIES VIOLATING LAW

A sharp denial of the report that he had violated the law by causing his launch of trespass on the rinyard-Yale boat racing course near New London, is made by George von L. Meyer, Secretary of the Navy. The Secretary says that he did not in any respect exceed his rights and privileges.

A Federal statute prohibits any but the racing shells on the course, and it is regulated by reverence of Admiral Ormsby Mc-Harg, Assistant Secretary of Commerce and Labor, denies that Mr. Meyer had been reported for violating the law, and says that instructions had been made which permitted Mr. Meyer to move freely about the river in a launch from the naval dispatch boat Dolphin.

MERCHANTS FAVOR LAWRENCE TROLLEY

At the continued hearing before the railroad commissioners to-day on the petition of the proposed Boston-Lowell and Boston-Lawrence trolley to be constructed of necessity," Samuel W. Mendum of Woburn said that, while it would be more convenient more to reach the Boston North station by means of the new line, he felt they could be satisfied with the proposed route. President Leonard R. Dow of the Woburn Chamber of Commerce Association said the new line would help build up the thinly settled districts of Lawrence. Dr. Michael W. Sullivan of Lawrence also favored the road.

RED SOX TAKE DAY OFF AFTER TRIMMING YANKS

BOSTON AMERICAN SPORTS

DOVES AT HOME FOR LONG STAY; CARDINALS TO-DAY

RED SOX TAKE REST ON WAY TO WINDY CITY

The Red Sox are enjoying a day's rest to-day on the train en route for the Windy City, the second stop on the Western circuit. They had to hustle some last night after the game with the Highlanders to reach the station in time for the train and there was some tall scampering down the cement walk when the whistle tooted.

The Red Sox are now traveling at their best and it will not be long before they are crowding the Tigers and Athletics for a berth higher up in the American League race.

Connie Mack's crew opens a four game series with Detroit in Tigerville to-day and the clash between these two teams is bound to be bitter. If the Elephants can get away with enough of the games, Jennings will find himself ousted from the coveted site.

While the Tigers and Athletics are battling with one another the Red Sox beginning tomorrow, will try to take enough falls out of the White Sox during the set to put them back into second place.

All of the men are in perfect condition with the exception of "Tris" Speaker who is laid up with Charley Horse, but the speedy Californian says his leg is coming around fast and he will be back into business in a few days.

Jerry McCarthy, the Red Sox mascot, is the happiest kid in the land just now for he has been taken along with the bunch this trip and is out every day in uniform warming up with the members of both teams much to be envy of the kids in the home towns.

The Red Sox will try hard to clean up the entire series with the White Sox as they want all the games they can get before meeting the Browns again. They go to St. Louis for four games after the series with the "Hitless Wonders."

Lake is elated at the prospects of his team and says the array of talent he can present will more than hold its own with the rest of the clubs on the circuit. Young Tays made good with a vengeance in his first game with the Speed Boys and his showing has so tickled the manager that he will be used regular on the trip.

RED SOX AFTER PITCHER.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Pitcher George McConnell, who was released last week by the New York Americans to Jersey City, has been ordered by Manager Stallings to rejoin the New York team. It is said that in rejoining him the New York management edifined to ask the consent of the other American League clubs. Boston has put in a claim for his services.

BOSTON DOESN'T WANT 'EM.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The Washington club has asked for pitchers Tom Hughes, Jesse Tannehill and Nick Altrock. Lake of Boston and Stallings of New York have already waived on the men.

BIG RACER TO BE BUILT BY HENRY FORD

By J. C. KERRISON.

Henry Ford promises to again build a racing car that will attract the same attention as did the "Old 999," with which Barney Oldfield established his reputation as the world's premier track driver.

Speaking of racing cars a few days ago, Mr. Ford said:

"I feel that I will have to again enter the racing game. I thought that I was through with it a couple of years ago when Frank Kulick, driving the big racer that I designed for him, crashed through the fence at the Fair Grounds at Detroit while traveling at a rate of speed that has never been equaled on a circular track. This accident nearly proved fatal to Kulick, in fact it has left him with a noticeable limp and he will be laid up for almost a year after it happened.

"Since the Indianapolis Motor Speedway has been under way, Kulick has begged me many times to let him have a racer for trial at the big six-racer, which I have always considered the fastest car in the world.

"But I could not permit him to again enter the game while his arm proved fatal to him without a condition, and the New York to Seattle across the continent race has given me the chance.

"I told Kulick that if the Ford won that event I would rebuild the big 6 racer for him, and as he piloted one of the two cars entered in that race and as first race was to be the answer—well, you can imagine what it has meant to him, when to say that the two smallest cars in the race day and night straight through, and as car No. 2 has won and carried the honors for the Ford, I feel I owe it to him. I intend to keep my promise to him. I intend to rebuild the big racer and let him enter the car in the free-for-all events and record trials against the fastest cars in the world that will race over the famous course."

R. D. Chapin of Detroit, who is a member of the executive committee of the National Association of Automobile Manufacturers, and treasurer and general manager of the Chalmers-Detroit Motor Company, will sail for Europe the middle of this month to spend the remainder of the Summer abroad. He expects to visit England, France, Germany and Italy. He will witness any big automobile races that may be run in Europe while he is there and see the trials for the James Gordon Bennett Aviation cup.

"Of course I know that one does not have to go abroad in order to see good automobile races," says Mr. Chapin. "This trip is not simply for the purpose of seeing the automobile races and studying progress in aeronautics, although I will take in as a number of the big events as long as I can in the time granted me. But I am also very interested in watching the speed results the foreigners are able to get with their small cars. Our experience has long since proved that the light car races held in this country have resulted in developing more horse power efficiency from small bore and stroke motors."

Mr. Chapin has planned to return to this country some time in September.

As at present projected the 1909 F. A. I. Endurance Contest will cover about 3S miles, starting from Cleveland, July 31, one day morning, August 10, and finishing at Indianapolis, Wednesday afternoon, August 11. H. Hamilton, chairman of the Endurance Run Committee expects to have the course in both dwelling over next week, and will have out the exact course. Just as soon as this work is completed the blanks will be put together and showing the course to be taken, the locations of the controls, checking stations, etc.

It is estimated that there will be over 100 entries in the race, which will include a number of private owners and amateurs engaged in the trade.

3 WRESTLING BOUTS ON CARD AT COLUMBIA

Tomorrow night at the Columbia Theatre promises to furnish some good sport and entertainment for those who enjoy good clean wrestling. The big carnival will bring together some of the best wrestlers in this section of the country and as there is considerable at stake there will undoubtedly be some close and warmly contested matches.

The main event will have as principals the sturdy Jim Prokos, known as "The Terrible Greek," and Sam Anderson, the world's middleweight champion. There is no love wasted between Prokos and Anderson, in fact the rivalry is quite bitter. Last Winter the pair wrestled at the Columbia and scored a fall each, the match being called off on account of the unfair tactics of both men before the final fall was decided.

Prokos is in great trim and feels that he can get away with Anderson, something that the latter's countrymen are willing to bet that he should accomplish, for Prokos is a prime favorite with the Greek colony in Boston.

Anderson, whose recent victory over Joe Hauson is still fresh in the memory of the fans, has been putting in his time of late in going through some rigorous training stints, and will not be caught napping by the Greek.

The second bout on the program will be between Cyclone Burns and Louis Hauser, the latter being the man that Jess Westergaard failed to throw in a hard-fought match. Hauser is a big, strapping fellow who is likely to make Burns extend himself to the limit. His Western record proves that he is one of the toughest men in the game. He comes to the Hub touted as a world beater.

The little fellows will also have a session. Young Frank Wyzel will meet to settle the question once and for all which is the better man. There is considerable rivalry in both camps and it is a matter of much speculation as to which will be the victor. Wyzel has lots of friends in Boston who are willing to back him to the limit. Young Prokos will have the backing of the sporting fans who have seen him perform against such top-notchers as Tremblay, Rapp and Stanton.

The bouts will be put on at 8:30. All bouts are to a finish.

AMATEUR TEAMS WANT GAMES

The Unicorns of Roxbury would like to arrange games with fast teams for Saturday, July and August. C. Kehl, 2 School street place.

The Quincy Stars would like to arrange games with 12-14 year-old teams. Mission Church Alley, North Weymouth. Fred Ridge or Ed Hunt.

The Woodward A. C. of South Boston would like to arrange games with 13-14-year-old teams. Will give or take half fares. John Collins, 12 Leeds street.

The United Shoe Workers' Association team of Chelsea would like to arrange games with 12-13 year-old teams for July and August. David Shea, 70 Cross street, Chelsea.

The Wellingtons would like to arrange games with professional teams for Wednesday and Saturday afternoons for the rest of the season. George F. Wilkins, 6 Center street, Cambridge.

The Walnuts of Roxbury would like to arrange games away from home with 12-year-old teams. Half fares for ten men wanted. Joseph Burke, 22 Hancock street.

The Knights of Dunjee Hill would like to arrange games with 14-15-year-old teams. Home or away games preferred. James Murphy, 14 Cottage street, Charlestown.

The Jefferson A. C. of Charlestown would like to arrange games with 14-15-year-old teams. Address Edward Cotter, 3 Cottage street.

The strong Quincy team would like a game with some first class professional team for Saturday, at Ford, Quincy.

The Wanderers of Dedham would like to arrange a home game with some 18-year-old team for Saturday. Address Hogarell, Dedham, Mass.

The Nonantum Boys' Club would like to arrange games for Saturday with some 17-18-year-old team. Call expected for ten men given or taken. Man ager, 2 Lowell street, Newton.

The Carsons of Dorchester would like to hear from some 15-16-year-old teams in the State for Saturdays and holidays. Will give or take half expenses. Address J. J. Dodd, 21 Summer street, city.

The Lynn A. C. opened the season last Saturday by defeating the strong Back Bay A. C., 11 to 0. The Lynns would like to hear from some fast 15-16-year-old teams in the State. J. Kaufman, 21 Union Street, Lynn.

JOE CORBETT RELEASED.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Joe Corbett, who attained fame in the baseball world as a pitcher for the noted Baltimore Orioles, has been released at his own request by Manager Long of the San Francisco team of the Pacific Coast League. Corbett complained that he was unable to regain the control that once distinguished his work in the box.

Baseball News and Notes

"What's in a name?" Nothing, of we are to judge by Pitcher White of the Senegates, who pitches ball and a Higher Jennings every decision, with the feeblest kind.

* * *

The Phillies should purchase Pitcher White and call him Bill Bonin a "Blonde Battery."

* * *

The series between the Tigers and the Skeeters at the Hilltop City, Detroit, is still a good guess of the standing at the finish of the present series might see Newark, St. Jerry City, or We shall see what we shall see.

* * *

Nashville is trying to get into the "Iron Manner" class. Manager Dunn, after one of a double-header with the Crackers in the morning and one in the afternoon, and won both of them, allowing five hits in the first game and none in the second, also contributed a single and a triple to the general delivery of Kaufman's Day in Montgomery.

* * *

Ty Cobb has stolen 31 bases this season. No other player in the American League has pilfered half as many. Jack Knight, regular shortstop of the leader, but he has stolen only 21 bases, less than two-thirds as many as Cobb.

* * *

Providence has been redeeming itself in the sight of the Tiger supporters, and has at last begun to play ball in a true stride for them. Recent acquisitions by holding almost perfectly Grays are making lots of trouble for their opponents.

* * *

If Jack Ryan can get a first-division team of the Skeeters he will be well worth the price paid by Buffalo for him, understand. The veteran has some good material to work with, and he has also to find out exactly what he can't use.

* * *

The various teams in the league have a hoodoo that is causing them to lose games. Detroit has certainly particularly hard for them to beat. Montreal is Providence's hoodoo, Providence has the Tigers. Baltimore is able to get the Skeeters going, and Rochester has the Orioles. Buffalo has been but Newark.

* * *

Jack Ryan has come into form when he purchased Ira Thomas from the Tigers. The Italian backstop is leading the pellet a la Lajoie.

* * *

Joss is one pitcher whom Schaefer admits has the "goods" on him.

* * *

Charlie Tait, son of the President, sat on the bench in uniform at a game in Washington, with the President's son, he has some advantages, at least. Both the regularly employed trainers of the American League clubs have to gaze at the contortions of Ty Cobb's screams in front of the grand stand.

* * *

Left fielder Chadbourne of the Indianapolis club of the American Association, has jumped, after a row, which he is alleged, because his wife did not like the town.

* * *

Rufus Nolly is the star pitcher of the Central league, winning consecutive games for Wheeling and allowing only five hits to a game.

* * *

Danny Murphy and Tris Speaker are the best batters in the American League, each having hit for twenty-eight extra bases.

* * *

Philadelphia is the only team that has had the best of the Athletics in the West, the Quakers having taken the Giants in six out of ten games, and broken even with Chicago in their series. Detroit has won from the Browns, broke even with the Cubs, and lost three with the Chicagos, while Cleveland has won from the Cubs two out of twelve from the Bostons and won four out of five from the St. Louis Cardinals.

* * *

Connie Mack does not expect to have any trouble beating out the Detroit Tigers this season, but he may have a hard time to beat Cleveland.

* * *

Clarke Griffith is working wonders with the Red Sox, and it is generally believed that the Red Sox would hit the toboggan about June 15, but they are still in the race with two teams going. The Reds have beaten the Pirates in six of the nine games played.

GOLF GOSSIP

NEWS OF THE LINKS

In the Allston mixed foursomes Miss K. F. Duncan very nearly hit a bird when driving. The bird was flying directly in the path of the ball, when it caught sight of it, saw it and ducked just in time.

* * *

The schoolboy golfers start on their way next week, competing in their annual golf championship tournament, which is being held at the Commonwealth Country Club on Chestnut Hill. A large entry has been realized, and some pretty classy golf will be seen.

* * *

Frank Hoyt's score of 80 was certainly a corker at Allston Monday, in fact it is the best score of the season made by an amateur for eighteen holes in the State.

* * *

It is regretted that the winner and the runner-up in the last year's schoolboy championship will not be able to participate in the tourney this week. Carl Anderson cannot try, as he has turned professional and is at the Yeager Country Club, while Flynn is at Lake Placid, N. Y., on the golf links there.

* * *

The golf committee at the Hatherly Golf Club, which have arranged such an attractive schedule, contains one of the prominent Allston golfers, namely, I. W. Marshall.

FRIDAY GAMES WANTED.

The Walcott A. C. of Revere would like to arrange games for Fridays with fast 16-17-year-old teams in the State. Games to be played on grounds at Revere. Sumner Waldron, Franklin street.

The twenty-five games at Exposition Park, Pittsburg, this season drew 138,362 spectators. The new park, Forbes Field, started off with a crowd of 30,338.

* * *

Stroud, who was sent to Milwaukee by Manager Mack for more playing experience, has found his batting eye. In five successive games he made twelve hits, including a double and a triple. Some day Connie will rest the strain and Stroud will be sent to Philadelphia.

* * *

Portlines which Slagle and Fraser made to the National Commission show that they drew about $2,800 each per season. And world's champions, too!

* * *

Business Manager Rowland, of the Cincinnati club, may take two more players to Cuba next Winter. The first Mcquillan to go, they will be sure. Last Winter McQuillan came near having to swim back.

* * *

The report that Manager Bowerman, of the Boston Nationals, might trade Dineen to the National Commission for that Major Kitzinger pitcher, who was the first man Mack signed, has tried the same trick when manager of Washington and failed. Bowerman go, Washington bunches and find the answer.

* * *

The St. Louis pennant-winners have broken their losing streak and the yells for Manager McAleer's scalp have ceased for the present.

* * *

The report from Ann Arbor that Captain Sullivan of the University of Michigan team is to join the Reds within a few days is denied by Manager Griffith, who has been the guest of the Cincinnati club for more than a year, and "didn't know that he was to leave" so far as he knew.

* * *

Umpire Harry Troy has tendered his resignation to President Pulliam of the National League and will accept a position as Pittsburg Inspector for S. P. Cusack, who was recently released from the Pittsburg team. He has also been made handle the indicator in the Tri-State organization.

SULLIVAN SAYS KETCHEL CAN WHIP COLORED CHAMPION

A Picture Story With But One Word.---By Tad.

LANGFORD CAN WHIP JOHNSON, SAYS JOHN L.

CHICAGO, July 8.—Stanley Ketchel can whip Jack Johnson, Jeffries and Johnson will never fight, and Sam Langford can whip them all," are the best guesses of John Sullivan, who is at the Auditorium Hotel on his way east from Canada.

He will leave for New York Sunday.

"There must have been something wrong with the Papke-Ketchel fight July 5," he said in discussing the fighting game. "Papke had no license to go against Ketchel, who I believe can whip Johnson good and plenty. He has the punch and his showing against Jack O'Brien shows he can use it. With proper care Ketchel will whip Johnson.

"Jeffries cannot get in condition to fight Johnson. He has gone the pace, but he could get right he would knock the head off the negro.

"Sam Langford can and will whip Jack Johnson if he ever gets him into a ring, which I seriously doubt. Johnson knows it and is sidestepping Sam.

"Langford is consistent, has the punch, knows the game and can whip them all right, now one after the other.

"Kaufmann is two show, show as a coach horse—and the others are outclassed, so it's up to Ketchel or Langford to turn the trick and my bet is that either will do it."

BIG LIST OF SPORTS AT SCOTCH PICNIC

The greatest field of professional athletes that has ever appeared in Boston is promised at the coming "Scotch picnic," which takes place on Saturday, August 8, at Caledonia grove, West Roxbury. The fact that the games committee last night increased their distance run from three to five miles will give many of the long distance runners an opportunity to show their best, the past year having been prolific in uncovering men who age accustomed to the five mile distance. Many of the marathon stars will be here to take a whirl at the shorter distance, and it is probable that the list of starters will be the best that has ever competed in Boston.

STRAIGHT DOPE FOR SPORT FANS

SO OUR OLD FRIEND SKELLIG Mohr is dead. Peace to his ashes, for he was a game sport. It is related that on his native hills of Killorgin Skellig met all comers and never went down to defeat. Even after coming to this country for years ago Skellig kept in training and was never known to have side-stepped anything that looked like a scrap. Generally considered a welterweight, Skellig was willing at all times to go out of his class to uphold the dignity of old County Kerry. I asked Johnny Mooney about this and Johnny said:

"Now look-it. I haven't much dope on Skellig, but he was a tough boy and willin'. He carried a punch in each hand and could stand a lot of punishment, although he was a whole lot better goin' than takin' it. He was quick to see an opening, never went around by Schooley square to land a wallop when he could get it through by 'court street.' And game! He never knew when to quit. He was a little light for a heavy, but with proper trainin' and a good fella to work with he could show class with any of them."

IF YOU ARE A HARD LOSER, gather your gang about you the sure to have plenty of 'em and go after the umpire with bottles, clubs or anything else with which you can deliver a hard wallop on the lone arbiter's head. That's the way they do things in Baltimore. Also, it's a good thing to sell beer at a ball park as it gets the rough necks up to the condition for the assault. Here is an excerpt from a telegraphic dispatch from Baltimore which should prove interesting to patrons of the national sport as conducted on the high plane in Boston:

"When Umpire Rigler, angry at the decisions of Umpire Rixon, tried to mix him at the conclusion of the contests, and but for the protection of a dozen policemen, he would have suffered badly. The crowd waited to get at him, surrounded by policemen, Rixon attempted to leave the grounds, but the mob, brandishing beer bottles, canes and umbrellas, surged up and pounced policemen and umpire against the side of the grandstand. They packed him roughly through a cordon of bluecoats and struck Rixon in the face. Finally the police managed to rush him through the entrance of the barroom and out to the street, where he got a car and hurried into town.

SCHOOLBOYS SHOULD BE INTERested in the athletic meets for the boys of Boston, to be promoted by the F.P.L.S. committee," and to be held all through the Summer. First, there are some mighty good prizes offered; secondly, a good chance to learn athletics from capable instructors; thirdly, a chance to keep in good condition and fourthly, an opportunity to engage in competition, which everybody outside of a busy drone loves to do.

The first of these meets will be held on Saturday, July 10. It is also well for the boys to know that they may register up to Friday night. It is not too late, the report that was spread to that effect being erroneous.

The two meets Saturday are to be held on the Sullivan square ground, Charlestown, and at Franklin Field, Dorchester. The boys in the vicinity of Bunker Hill monument should register at the room of the Catholic Literary Union, No. 5 Monument square, with Henry McKnight, or at the Bunker Hill Boys' Club, No. 10 Wood street, with R. A. Briggs.

The Dorchester boys should register at the Municipal building, Franklin Field, with whoever is in charge. Edmund Hines, who was a well-known sprinter and quarter-miler and broad jumper up to a few years ago, is the instructor at Charlestown, and John D. O'Reilly at Dorchester. These meets will last all through the Summer, two being booked for each section.

WHEN ONE CONSIDERS HOW MANY men cannot swim, it is a wonder that there are so few deaths by drowning. The loss of young Norley Monday and the subsequent diligence that almost a score of the fifty oarsmen in the competing eight-oared crews could not swim, is simply appalling. And yet it will be found that good athletes, baseball players, football players, runners, jumpers and boxers cannot swim. The case is recalled of an athlete who has won honors as a sprinter, a broad jumper, a baseball player, a football player, a hockey player, at tawn tennis and at golf. He is a wiry little fellow and can run fast, fight, jump, handle a ball and do almost any athletic stunt, but he can't swim. Why is it?

THE PASSING OF NICK ALTROCK and Bill Donnelly, together with Tom Hughes, from the American League to the minors has been foreshadowed for some time. Jesse Tannehill was a cockey when he was with the Pittsburgs. If did good, bad and indifferent work with the Boston Americans, and if Jesse had taken to the outfield, as Burkett, O'Leary, Seymour, Hallren and others did, some years ago, it's a safe bet he would be still be in the big league.

"Handsome Nick" was quite a pitcher when the White Sox won the championship. But the German's habits are not calculated to improve a man's pitching ability. As for Tom Hughes, the least said the better. Bostonians cannot forget that incident of the world's championship series between Boston and Pittsburg. Tom knew he was selected to pitch the third game, but deliberately stayed out on the field before and celebrated. That's a mild word for his antics.

HERE'S ONE ON WIDDY CONROY, the Washington third sacker. Although it took a few days to leak out, it pulls a laugh anyway.

Washington was playing the Red Sox last week, and of course on Sunday there was no baseball in Boston, but that didn't hinder Conny from seeing the national game. He hiked to a field in Winthrop where there was a stirring contest on between a scrub team from Charlestown and the soldiers of Fort Banks.

Wid became pale on the Charlestown team, and so sat on the bench. He had his best Sunday duds on and was all dicked out as if to meet his very best. The game went along with the Charlestown boys giving a good imitation of a goat until the last inning, when they managed to get the sacks all clouded with runners. Gee, they used a bit and needed it badly. A happy thought struck the Charlestown manager and he put Wid in the game. Funny! Wid shed coat, collar, cuffs and turned up his trousers.

There were exclamations of "Pipe the dude. Ain't he cute," but Wid didn't mind. He grabbed up a bat and into the pitch he stepped. One of those juicy roundhouse curves thrown by the soddier twirler and it went like a bird toward the pitcher, who very calmly stuck up his lunch hook and pulled down the prize.

Oh, say, wouldn't it have been a lot of pleasure had some one made a stump speech and told the audience that Wid was the mighty Wid Conroy who was so easy. Pretty tough on Connie, though, when he couldn't pinch a bit for a scrub team.

A LOT HAS BEEN PRINTED ABOUT beer conversely will be the crowd at the American touring handicap derby at Readville this Summer with the added attraction of the inauguration of a derby on similar lines for the side-liners. It is sincerely hoped that this is so, but will the general public patronize these star light harness events when they know that no grandstand will be provided. Seats, chairs, settles and benches will be placed on the lawn to accommodate the crowds, but they will be banked so that the seats in the rear will be more elevated than those at the rail. But the sport-loving public just keen accustomed to grandstands. It would seem wise for the promoters to construct a temporary grandstand, if nothing else.

Sporting Editor, Boston American:
Will you please give me the "straight dope" on the following in regard to a wager?
When does a batsman become a base runner? A claim is becomes a base runner when he is touched first base, whether he gets there by hitting a fair or foul ball or by being hit by a pitched ball, batted or thrown runner immediately hits the ball, whether it be fair or foul or put out by the catcher.—C. N. M.

It wins. Rule 53 of the playing rules says: The batsman becomes a base runner: (1) Instantly if four balls have been called by the umpire; (2) Instantly if three strikes have been declared by the umpire.

Sporting Editor, Boston American:
Did Langford and Johnson ever meet in the ring and what was the result?—GEORGE DOWLING.

Langford lost to Johnson in fifteen rounds in Chelsea in April, 1906.

Boxing News in Brief Form

It is the same old story of non-appearance that we get every day. Ketchel the right. Papke and Ketchel are to go 20 that Ketchel will not be in the ring and other fighting talent will be on early rounds. Ketchel will not appear. He is afraid to get in the ring with Papke. From the tortuously twisted documents Papke looked like a winner, but Ketchel looked like one. Ketchel's decision cost a pretty penny, as he is going greeted to an equal amount of boos and hisses.

* * * *

That Young Corbett is one of the most popular men in the ring today was evidenced by the hearty greeting he got from Referee Welcome at Reading, but barring the two principals, Papke and Kid Wood, Corbett is the only fighter who entered the ring with tears in his eyes. What's the answer? He was always on the level.

* * * *

"Spider" Kelly, who was Papke's chief second knows that Britt and Ketchel were betting heavily on the fourth, and therefore told Papke to hold back and take no chances the first two rounds. Ketchel was to put Papke to sleep in the third. Papke was to stall for the first two rounds, and when Ketchel got cold and deteriorated in the ring, win out.

* * * *

Papke going the limit rounds with Ketchel was more a loss of nerve in the ringside than the champion needs Johnson October 12. Britt may be right, but he will have to be matched at 145 pounds ringside. If defeating Langford the Johnson-Ketchel go would be on the boxing again.

* * * *

A report comes from the coast that Papke bet heavily on himself and that this is the reason that he allowed Ketchel to do most of the fighting up to the time. It was noticed that Papke carried and placed safe all during the first part and fought in a safety-first style. He did not take any chances. It is said Papke cleaned up close to $2,000.

MOORE BESTS MORAN.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Pal Moore of Philadelphia outfought Johnny Moran, the "actor's champion," in the star bout of ten rounds at the Sharkey A. C. Pal did the forcing from the start, and except the fourth and seventh rounds, in which Moran had the lead, there was not a moment that the little Quaker lad wasn't chasing his man around the ring.

RUNNER AFTER BALLARD.

PROVIDENCE, July 8.—Harold F. Dillon, a carpenter's mate on the battleship Connecticut of the Atlantic squadron, who has been attending the Superior Court as a witness, is anxious for a match race with Joe Ballard of the Boston A. A. for any distance from one to ten miles. Dillon is the champion mile and middle distance runner of the navy.

A want advt. is often the road to fortune.

NOTED HORSEMAN DEAD.

H. S. Henry, who recently died in Philadelphia, established Penn Valley Farm, across the New Jersey line from Trenton, and conducted it in such a way as to be much in the public eye. Among other horses owned by him was Asteen, bought when the Electioneer boom was at its height. He was a familiar figure at the trotting meetings held at Lexington, Cleveland, Buffalo, Rochester and Hartford and also at the big horse auctions. He was an enthusiastic a boomer as John S. Clark and A. A. Brown and their annual get-together at his breeding establishment.

When the boom exploded he suddenly dropped out of breeding and trotting ranks, and was a buyer of 88 as an act collector for a few special sales to what is known as the Rainbow school, and he sold his group of landscapes at public auction in this city for $32,000. Then he began to form another collection, and last Winter paid $50,000 for Millet's small painting, "Going to Work." Dealers of 1907 say Mr. Henry was regarded as more of a daring speculator in horses than as a profound student of breeding and development.

Regret Wastes Vital Forces of Mind and Body

By ELLA WHEELER WILCOX

Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner

REPENTANCE and reformation are good things for the foolish, the weak and the erring.

Add to these resolve to live a higher life and perseverance in the resolve, and then go your way and praise God.

Do not waste time and vital forces in continual regret. There is nothing so exhausting to mind and body, as regret.

"If I only had not done this—or said that—if I could go back—if I could live that day over again." What folly it is to indulge in weak repinings of that nature.

No human being ever did go back; no life were ever allowed to unsay words; no feet ever permitted to untread steps once taken.

Each Must Learn for Himself

Let your resolutions become a part of your character, making it stronger and braver. Let your errors make you kinder.

Because you have been weak, because you have suffered through weakness, let your human sympathy be great and your charity broad. Be a guide and a counselor to others who are tempted, if they will listen to you.

It is seldom one life can be influenced by another. It is rare, indeed, to find a fellow mortal of any age who will avoid a path because another tells him there lie pitfalls in which he has fallen.

The egotism of the individual always leads him to believe that he can travel that path and escape those pitfalls.

But even if you avert no disaster, you can at least help heal wounds and bruises after the disaster occurs, and spur the unfortunate ones on to new courage for the journey ahead.

Experience Not in Vain

Whatever has made you kinder, gentler, more charitable and given you a nearer understanding of humanity in all its weakness and recklessness and lack of wisdom; whatever makes you more forbearing and patient and helpful to fellow pilgrims, has not been experienced in vain, though it be ah, folly or disaster.

And life itself is in vain unless its influences upon you lead you to this result.

If you have escaped the pitfalls of the earth journey, thank God, so long as your heart knows sympathy. If you have stumbled and offered and begun over, let it make you tender, broad, humane and human, and waste no time in regret.

It is what we are in soul worth, and not how we came so, that interests earth and Heaven.

"C. Q. D.—C. Q. D."

By Nell Brinkley

"And many are the wrecks that strew the scenery around the Summer hotels—that perch on the fences in ruffles and fluffles and listen for 'man-steps' and send out C. Q. D. signals."

THERE are all kinds of C. Q. D. situations where Wireless saves various and sundry heads and hearts from going down, and a good bunch of them have to do with the little ship of a Lad and his bit-Lassie that they are trying to sail through all kinds of weather over the whimsical sea called Lover's Ways; when the ring of the door-bell goes hurtling through the house; and it's the very beginning of the very first minute they've seen each other alone for two weeks—then you can just see the blue lightning of the appeals for help that go out.

When her mamma and her Dad have locked her in a room where she can't see Him and on a side of the house where he can't even throw a tennis ball, and stuffed with a note, up to her from the garden: then you'd ought to see the dots and dashes that go out to that little tramp-tug called by the name of Eros that plows the Sea of Lover's Ways and isn't particular who it rescues and tows, and that hardly ever lets them really hit the bottom!

Oh, there are many.

You can think of some rough weather of your own where C. Q. D. saved your life.

But the worst season for wrecks of the worst kind is the Summer-lightning time from the first of June till the last of August! for oh! the wrecks that strew the scenery around the Summer hotels—the wrecks that perch on the fences in ruffles and fluffles and sweaters and "middies" and sailor hats, who weep, and frown, and pretend not to care, who scan the landscape, and listen for foot-steps (man-steps), who sit with listless hands, who rail, and wonder—and send out C. Q. D. bolts to the tramp-tug, who sure is in a mix-up when it comes to this.

Even to the Summer is dotted with little Bettys bobbing along in a ship all alone where there aren't enough Billys to go round. NELL BRINKLEY.

Tragedies of Life Treated as Good Jests

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THERE are fashions and fads in jokes as well as in anything else. Just at present the fashion, and it is in very bad taste, is to belittle matrimony.

Artists who make comic (?) pictures, joke makers and special writers all unite in showing up marriage in as unpleasing a light as possible.

They represent all husbands as henpecked or cynical, all as frivolous or peevish, and all children as lacking in respect and reverence toward their elders.

Anything that tends to make young people look upon matrimony as other than a very serious step is wrong. If they are taught to regard the fie that binds their parents as a joke, how can they be expected to appreciate its sacred nature?

It's Tragedy—Not Humor

Some of the cases are more tragic than merry; there is nothing specially humorous in the quarrels of a man and wife, nor in the sight of a neglected wife.

There are, of course, cases where mismated people have failed to find happiness in marriage, but why turn such tragedies into a joke?

There is a great deal of happiness to be found in marriage, and I hope none of my young friends will pay any attention to the efforts of the joke-makers to belittle matrimony.

There are just two sides to it. If you marry a man you love and respect you are fairly sure to find happiness; if you marry a man whom you do not love and respect you will not find happiness—and, there you are.

Don't Quarrel in Fun

Marriage is serious and might be taken seriously, with a mutual regard for the little failings on each side. When a husband learns that his wife cannot stand teasing about her failures in housekeeping he should resist the temptation to be funny at her expense.

The one thing that makes bachelors sorry for their married brothers is nagging. I think that quarrels more than any other has frightened Mr. Bachelor away from double harness.

The saddest quarrels of all are those between the father and mother of a family.

What can be expected from the children who grow up in such an atmosphere? What is their idea of married life?

Marriage is a beautiful, holy partnership for those who enter it in the right companionship and spirit, but it is the depth of misery for those who do not.

If the joke makers cannot speak well of marriage, they can at least leave it alone and forbear to make jokes which are both unkind and in bad taste.

A Flower Song

By AUSTIN DOBSON

DOWN where the garden grows,
Gay as a banner,
Spake to her mate the Rose
After this manner:
"We are the first of the flowers,
Plain-land or hilly,
All reds and whites are ours,
And they not, Lily?"

THEN to the flowers I spake—
"Watch ye my Lady
Gone to the leafy brake,
Silent and shady;
When I am near to her,
Lily, she knows;
How I am dear to her,
Look to it, Rose."

STRAIGHTWAY the Blue-bell stooped,
Paler for pride,
Down where the Violet drooped,
Shy, at her side—
"Sweethearts, save me and you,
Where has the Summer klat
Flowers of as fair a hue—
Turkis, or Amethyst?"

THEREWITH I laughed aloud,
Spake on this wise:
"Oh little flowers so proud,
Have ye seen eyes
Change through the blue in them—
Change till the mere
Loving that grew in them
Turned to a tear?

"FLOWERS ye are bright of hue,
Delicate, sweet;
Flowers, and the sight of you
Lightens men's feet;
Yea, but for worth to me,
Flowerets, even,
Sweetening the earth to me,
Sweeteneth heaven.

"THIS, then, on Flowers, I sing;
God, when He made ye,
Made yet a fairer thing
Making my Lady—
Fashioned her tenderly,
Giving all weal to her—
Girdle ye slenderly,
Go to her, kneel to her—

"SAYING, 'He sendeth us,
He the most dutiful,
Meetly he endeth us,
Maiden most beautiful:
Let us get seat of your,
Sweet, by your breast—
Die, being prest of you,
Die, being blest.'"

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX
NOT BOUND IN ANY WAY

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

As you have been of great assistance to me, a girl friend of mine has asked me to write to you in her stead. This girl has just passed her twentieth birthday, although you would not consider her quite a kid. She is a very popular girl in every way and has any amount of friends, both sexes. For the past year and a half she has encouraged the attentions of a certain gentleman whom she liked better than the rest, but at the same time she kept going out with others. This gentleman has declared his love time and time again, but still has never asked her to marry. At the same time he demanded to know if she loved him. When assured in the affirmative the subject was dropped. Lately he has absolutely neglected her and never made an excuse when they met. He also claims to be jealous, but since his strange actions he gives her cause to be jealous. Perhaps he excites the girl to humor him.

As many cases, I trust you will give your opinion of him and tell my friend whether she is wasting her time by waiting for him.

A long as the man has not actually asked her to marry him, she is not bound to him in any way. At the same time, if she had not encouraged the attentions of other men he might have made his proposal definite. As it is now, I think she is wasting time in fretting over him and it is wiser to let him go.

OVER PARTICULAR

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am a young man twenty years old, and am very much in love with a young lady. I smoked the other night in her presence, and she told me never to speak to her again. I have a good position as a bank clerk and could give her a nice home. Kindly tell me how I can make up with her. W. E. S.

I THINK she is very easily upset when she takes offence at such a trifle. If she objects so strongly to smoking she should have asked you to give it up. If you love her well enough to give up smoking for her sake you might write and tell her so and ask her to renew the friendship.

The Cinch That Our Grandmothers Had

"We Have Progressed a Long Way, but Our Grandmothers Are Mighty Sorry for Us, if They Can See Us"

By Dorothy Dix

WOMEN spend much time these days in jubilating over the progress they have made and in celebrating this as the golden age of their sex. None would turn back the hands of the clock, but, nevertheless, there are times when it occurs to even the most advanced of us that, while we have achieved rights, our grandmothers had a cinch.

It is, of course, a glorious thing for the door of every business and profession to be open to women, but what a nice, soft, restful thing it must have been to merely be a dopey vine that somebody was bound to support!

It is highly gratifying to one's sex pride to observe that in our co-educational colleges the girl students carry off most of the prizes, but the woman whose thinking was farmed out between her male relatives escaped a lot of worry.

Domestic Life Was Tame Then

Only think, for instance, of what a blissful state of society it must have been when ignorance was counted woman's chief charm, and when she was no more expected to have views and opinions than she was to have a mustache. Nobody expected her to keep up with things. Alas and alack, the day that female fools went out of fashion, for on that day women's troubles began.

Domestic life wasn't so strenuous in olden times, either. In those halcyon times there were no columns in the papers filled with theories about how to keep your husband fascinated, so wives were saved the wear and tear on their nerves of attempting experiments that wouldn't work. Nor did women worry about trying to retain their husbands' affection. They took it for granted that if a man spent his life toiling for his family he was putting up a pretty good living picture of marital devotion, and they let it go at that.

All life was simpler, and especially the relationship between men and women. A man's wife was his pet, or his doll, or his slave, according to the man's nature, but he didn't expect her to be all of them, and a companion, and household ornament in addition, as the modern man demands of his wife.

As for bringing up a family, one small infant is more trouble, anxiety and expense to the modern woman than a dozen children were to the women of the past. There were no mother classes and conventions, nor pasteurized milk and sterilized theories to harass our grandmothers.

They did not even know that a child was an AWFUL PROBLEM. They brought it was a little animal to be fed and washed, spanked when it was bad, kissed when it was good, and generally kept in the background. If it was healthy and turned out well, they took the credit to themselves. If it sickened and died, they laid it to a mysterious dispensation of Providence, but it never occurred to them that they were in any way to blame or responsible for what happened to it.

Our grandmothers may have had fewer privileges, but they didn't have the responsibilities of the modern woman.

The modern mother has gotten enlightenment, and with it misery. She knows that if her children die of diphtheria and pale of boots we didn't know it unless we caught the miscreant in the act.

In a country store an inventory is taken once a year. At the end of the second year stock is found on hand that was on hand a year before. No special effort is made to work it off—the hope and expectation is that it will eventually be called for.

The business increases—diligence and hard work have their reward. A clerk is employed besides the usual boy. Things are prosperous. Another clerk is hired.

The owner's credit is good—he buys on time. If bills are due and he has not quite enough money to meet them, he pays what he can and gives his note for the balance.

At His Best for Fifteen Years

Business continues good—new lines are taken on. If there is not money to pay notes that come due, the notes are renewed. The inventory shows a profit of five, eight or ten thousand a year. Money may be a little tight, but it is tight everywhere. Business is good—the country is prosperous.

Did you know that an active, hustling, rustling man is at his best for about fifteen years? That is a fact. He isn't done for then, only he is willing that others should take the load for a while and shoulder the burden.

Things are left to others—our merchant takes little trips, or spends a part of his time on his farm looking after the live stock. The very success of the business leads to carelessness and inattention. Vigilance is relaxed. In the general store there is no system of bookkeeping to show what pays and what not. The inventory does not reveal the dead stocks, and the book accounts do not show what accounts are worth their face and what not.

A good dunderhead clerk, not overgreedy, can steal from his employer a thousand dollars a year for ten years, and the boss in the average successful country store will never know it. The bigger the business the more leaks.

I used to work in a country store where a twelve-year-old boy stole eggs from us at the back door and sold us our own property at the front. He kept this up for a year, and he might have kept it up indefinitely had he not taken in a partner and tried to do a Wholesale business.

Success did for him, too!

Dead stock, bad accounts, pilfering clerks and lime in the bones of the boss work the certain ruin of every country store.

If the business is so small that the proprietor and his wife can remember everything they have in stock, and then sell for cash, and cannot get or will not accept credit, the business is safe until their sons grow up and take the management—then they repeat the venture.

Expansion Without System

Expansion without system spells failure. Organization means that a man shall grow with his business, but the man who grows with his business is as one in a hundred.

A million mice nibble at every business concern.

In order to avoid leaks there must be a system that will locate them. The department store, where there is a system which tells every day, every week or every month just what every department pays, is the safest business that exists. If any one department does not pay it is reformed or abolished, or else eliminated.

No big business can possibly succeed unless it is divided into departments.

A department that does not pay is not allowed to continue and drag the whole concern down to bankruptcy, as in the good old general store, where Jumble and guesswork audit the accounts.

The successful country store has an easy mark for every petty thief and little Peter player in town. The village Smart Aleck hires out as clerk and supplies his friends the things they need, just as the postmaster's aunt reads the postal cards and hands out the news, if she clerks in the office.

Safety in Business

"A Million Mice Nibble at Every Business Concern." . . . . There Must Be a System, Else Failure Is Sure.

By ELBERT HUBBARD

THE other day I read this sentence in one of H. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly reports: "The average life of a successful general store is twenty years—then it fails."

One does not look for literature in tender reports. Literature consists in telling the thing by saying something else. This gives the reader an opportunity to guess what is meant—it is a kind of pleasing puzzle; and the joy of the reader lies in solving the problem. It is the satisfaction with himself that pleases the gentle reader, not the joy in the literature. Reading is self-discovery, and when we understand we mentally put ourselves on the back.

And so that remark in the Dun report caught me—I was pleased with myself. I read into it my own experiences. "The average life of a successful general store is twenty years—then it fails." If it had succeeded it would not live at all. If it exists twenty years a goodly degree of success must attend it; and it fails on account of its success.

Small Stores Survive on Memory

As long as a country store is small, and is run by a man of average ability who can carry in his head a schedule of what he has in stock, the place escapes disaster. The owner buys and he sells; he usually remembers about what a thing costs, and he sells at a profit.

In small stores out West, if a patron was trusted we used to chalk the item down on the stovepipe. The amount of money in the cash drawer at night represented the cash sales of the day. If somebody pinched a few dollars, or lifted a pair of boots we didn't know it unless we caught the miscreant in the act.

In a country store an inventory is taken once a year. At the end of the second year stock is found on hand that was on hand a year before. No special effort is made to work it off—the hope and expectation is that it will eventually be called for.

Coyote's Song.

By J. S. REED

A—OO, my brothers, the moon is red,
And the antelope starts from his prairie bed,
Then jobs ye again in the ancient throne,
For the day that's dead,
And the hunt that's fled,
And the terror of things unseen.

A FAR, afar, on the star-lit plain
Our fathers howled where the deer hid lain,
And hung on the flanks of the bison-run,
For the bull fell first,
In that wild pell-mell,
Had died ere the night was done.

NO more the warrior rides his raids,
And the hunting star of the prairie fades,
While a fiery comet tears the night
With a crimson streak,
And a demon's shriek,
All athirst with the white man's light.

BUT at when the Winter wind is high,
We hear on the prairie the hollowed cry
And the rumbling hoofs of the bison-run,
But never seek in vain,
Through the empty plain,
For the buffalo herds are done.

A—OO, my brothers, the stars are red,
And the faun coyote must mourn unfed,
Come join ye again in the ancient croon,
For the dawn is gray,
And another day
Has faded the red, red moon.

Solution of Donkey and Elephant Puzzle

IT was told that the Donkey had been twice as long in crossing as the Elephant and three sons." The great-grandfather received eight of the bonds, the grandfather four bonds, the father two bonds and the son one bond. Thus, each father received twice as much as his son and no two of the heirs received like amounts.

The Mystery of the Yellow Room

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

In Paris was startled by the mystery of "The Yellow Room," in which an attempt had been made to assassinate the beautiful Mlle. Stangerson. Monsieur Stangerson, her father, and Daddy Jacques, at work in the laboratory of the ancient chateau, near Paris, heard sounds of a struggle at midnight and two revolver shots. The "Yellow Room" was locked on the inside, and there was only the transom could escape. Yet when they broke in with the coachman, they found Mademoiselle alone, scornful and with a wound in the thigh. The window was still fastened. How did the assassin escape?

Joseph Rouletabille, sent by the Epoque, a Paris newspaper, is aided in his search by Sinclair, a lawyer, friend of Robert Darzac, the fiance of Mlle. Stangerson.

Frederic Larsan, a noted Parisian detective, refuses to give his version of the mystery until the examining magistrate calls all the witnesses in the laboratory. Darzac tells when the Professor admits that two days before the tragedy his daughter had broken off the engagement.

Frederic Larsan amazes all by declaring that Monsieur Stangerson knows the murderer and attempted him to escape. The old man protests and Rouletabille believes him, declaring he will prove the reasoned detective wrong.

Rouletabille tells how he overheard Darzac and Mlle. Stangerson, at a reception the night of the crime, reading a letter, and Darzac said "Most." He sounds a clue? He believes there is some secret trying to stop the marriage.

Many witnesses point to Darzac as the criminal, and Frederic Larsan believes Darzac guilty. Rouletabille opposes this belief, and holds that the assassin was some man closely resembling Darzac, who had made demands upon Mlle. Stangerson for certain papers, that she had refused to comply with.

The author, instead of reporting their conversation, quoted from Rouletabille's notebook covering the same occurrence. This related to a night when he was scanned to find a corridor window open in the chateau. Footprints of a man on the corridor carpet, leading to the door of Mlle. Stangerson's bedroom, perplexed, he went to the room occupied by Daddy Jacques.

The Trap—(Extract from the Notebook of Joseph Rouletabille.)

"I FOUND him dressed, his eyes wide open, almost haggard. He did not seem surprised to see me. He told me that he had got up because he had heard the cry of the Bete du Bon Dieu, and because he had heard footsteps in the park, close to his window, out of which he had looked and, just then, had seen a black shadow pass by.

"I asked him whether he had a firearm of any kind. No, he no longer kept one, since the examining magistrate had taken the revolver from him. We went out together, by a little back door, into the park, and stole along the chateau to the point which is just below Mademoiselle Stangerson's window.

"It seized Daddy Jacques against the wall, ordering him not to stir from the spot, while I, taking advantage of a moment when the moon was hidden by a cloud, moved to the front of the window, out of the patch of light which came from it—for the window was half open! If I could only know what was passing in that silent chamber!

"I returned to Daddy Jacques and whispered the word 'ladder' in his ear. At first I had thought of the tree which, a week ago, served me for an observatory; but I immediately saw that, from the way the window was half opened, I should not be able to see from that point of view anything that was passing in the room; and I wanted, not only to see, but to hear, and—to act.

"Greatly agitated, almost trembling Daddy Jacques disappeared for a moment and returned without the ladder, but making signs to me with his arms, as signal to me to come quickly to him. When I got near him he gasped: 'Come!'

"He led me round the chateau, past the garden. Arrived there, he said:

"'I went to the donjon in search of my ladder, and in the lower part of the donjon, which serves me and the gardener for a lumber room, I found the door open and the ladder gone. On coming out, that's what I caught sight of by the light of the moon.'

"And he pointed to the further end of the chateau, where a ladder stood resting against the stone branches projecting the terrace, under the window which I had found open. The projection of the terrace had prevented my seeing it. 'Thanks to that ladder,' it was quite easy to get into the 'off-turning' gallery of the first floor, and I had no doubt of finding large footprint there by the unknown.

"We ran to the ladder, but at the moment of reaching it, Daddy Jacques drew my attention to the half-open door of the little semi-circular room, situated under the terrace, at the extremity of the right wing of the chateau, and the entrance door its roof. Daddy Jacques pushed the door open a little further and said to me:

"'He's not there?' he whispered.

"'Who is not there?'

"'The forest keeper.'

"With his fine eyes more to my ear, he added: 'Do you know that he has slept in the upper room of the donjon ever since it was restored?' And with the same gesture he pointed to the half-open door, the ladder, the terrace, and the window in the 'off-turning' gallery which, a little while before I had re-closed.

"What were my thoughts then? I had no time to think. I felt more than I thought.

"Evidently I felt, if the forest-keeper is up there in the chamber of my, if, because of this circumstance, apart from the presence of the ladder and his vacant room, there are no evidences which permit me to suspect him!—if he is there, he has been obliged to pass by the door of the two rooms which lie behind his, in his new lodging, are crowded by the murderer, who, downward and by the cook, and by the kitchens, which bar the way to the vestibule to the interior of the chateau.

What Was Her Frightful Secret?

"And if he had been there during the evening on any protest, it would have been easy for him to go into the gallery and see that the window could be simply pushed open from the outside. This explained why the unfastened window easily narrowed the field of search for the murderer. He must belong to the house, unless he had an accomplice, which I refused to believe, or—unless—unless Mademoiselle Stangerson herself had seen that window open on her retreat from the inside.

"But, then—what could be the frightful secret which made her under the necessity of doing away with circumstances that aided her from the murderer?

"I seized hold of the ladder, and returned to the back of the chateau to set up the window of the chamber was still half-open. The blind even was not bolted, but John and allowed a bright stream of light to escape and fall upon the path at our feet.

"I planted the ladder under the window. I ran almost sure that I made no noise; and while Daddy Jacques held it in his foot of the ladder, I mounted it, very quietly, my stout stick in my hand, to hold my breath and lifted my feet with the greatest care. Suddenly a heavy cloud discharged itself at that moment, to the advantage of my ear.

"At the same instant the sinister cry of the Bete du Bon Dieu arrested me in my ascent. It seemed to me to be very close to me—only a few yards away. Then, cry a signal? Did it come from the pilloe of the man seen me on the ladder?—would the cry bring the forest keeper down?—Perhaps!

"Ah, there he was at the window! I felt his head above me. I heard the sound of his breath. I could see his back toward him; the least movement of my head, and—I might be lost. Would he see me?—Would he peer into the darkness? No; he went away. He had seen nothing.

"I felt, rather than heard, his moving on tip-toe in the room; and I mounted a few steps higher. My head reached to the level of the window-sill; my panting rose above it; my eyes looked between the opening in the blinds—and I saw—

"A man seated at Mademoiselle Stangerson's little desk, writing. His back was turned toward me. A candle was lit, and fell full upon his face! Surprise and horror! I know nothing.

"But there was no doubt that this mysterious unknown was the man of The Yellow Room—the man to whose murder I was about to be a witness!

"But there was no doubt that this mysterious unknown was the man of The Yellow Room—the man to whose murder I was about to be a witness!

The Girl and the "I"

"The Egotism of the Average Young Woman Is Her Greatest Drawback"

By WINIFRED BLACK

A PHILADELPHIA telephone girl killed herself the other day because the manager of the company reprimanded her in the presence of the other employes.

A customer spoke roughly to the girl over the wire and she cancelled his call and told him she would not serve any one who talked as he did.

Whereupon the manager, who overheard the transaction, called her to account for her quick temper and told her she would have to learn to control herself better.

When he found out the real facts in the case he apologized for his harshness and told the girl to go back to duty. When the noon hour came the poor, foolish little thing went home and took a dose of poison and died.

Poor, pitiful little ill-balanced creature, this world was no place for her.

Any woman who expects to earn her living without any disagreeable experiences might just as well give up the plan from the start.

What the girl carts into business life the first thing for her to do is to get it into her head that her work in the only thing that speaks for her at all.

Nobody cares whether she is happy or unhappy, pretty or ugly, interesting or stupid, quick-tempered or amiable, attractive or dull—all they care is, does she do the work she is paid to do—and do it well enough to keep on being paid.

The terrible egotism of the average girl is her greatest drawback in every walk of life. I know a woman who is so much of an egotist that she never has a good time any where unless she is the centre of attraction.

I know a girl who spends three or four hours in a violent outburst of tears every time she hears another girl praised. Her mother says she is sensitive. The best thing that could happen to that girl would be to get a box on the ears by her own living, where her first sensitive spell would get her a very cold good morning, with a request that she get out of sight and hearing and forget to come back as soon as possible.

"Sensitive"—what an overworked word that is! I wonder if it wouldn't be a good plan to substitute the word "self-centred" for it once in a while.

Whenever a girl cries because some other girl is considered prettier than she is—she don't call her sensitive, call her self-centred.

Whenever she shows that she cannot take a reproof and stand it as other girls in her same station in life have to stand it, don't bolster up her conceit by calling her sensitive.

I'd rather deal with an impetuous and irascible person any day in the week than with either a man or woman who is "sensitive."

Life in London

THREE hundred thousand Londoners live in one-room tenements with three or more occupants. The death rate of the London districts in which a million people are housed not so well as horses is four times higher than normal.

But London is not the only plague spot in England. In seven other cities the number of preventable and unnecessary deaths reaches a yearly total of 20,000, a deaths reaches a yearly total of 20,000, a black list of those slain by the filthy conditions and overcrowding that equals the losses of the British in South Africa from wounds and disease.

In Scotland twenty-three per cent. of the families live in one room, and in Glasgow one-third of the population of families have no more than one room to bundle in. Conditions are no better in the smaller cities of Scotland. Kilmarnock has only 28,000 population, yet thirty-five per cent of its families dwell in single-room tenements. One-eighth of the total population of Scotland do not know the decency of a two-room home.

Eight million people of the United Kingdom have an average family income of no more than $10 a week, and in the cities they must pay at least a fourth of this for rent or a pigsties miscalled tenements.—Providence Journal.

Where Corn Goes

PEOPLE often wonder, particularly those who have traveled for hundreds of miles through the corn belt, what becomes of the corn which is grown every year. In the year 1908, when the total crop was 2,666,000,000 bushels, 2,141,000,000 bushels were consumed in flour and grist mill products, 8,000,000 bushels in the manufacture of starch, 9,000,000 bushels for malt liquors, 17,000,000 bushels in the production of distilled liquors, 40,000,000 bushels for glucose, 100,000,000 bushels for export and 17,000,000 bushels for seed, making a total of 518,000,000 bushels, or 19.3 per cent. of the entire crop. The remaining 80.7 per cent., or 2,148,000,000 bushels, seems to have been used almost entirely for feeding.—Kansas City Journal.

COUNTRY LIFE

Margaret, who lives in the city, went to the country to visit some cousins. At breakfast the first morning there was a dish of honey on the table, and Margaret, to show her cousins that she was familiar with country life, carelessly remarked: "Ah, I see you keep a bee."—Argonaut.

Society Set Makes Merry At the Shore

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

Most conspicuous among many attractive women at the "housewarming" at the Essex County Club was Mrs. Francis S. Watson of this city, gowned in crimson, black and white plaided silk, her hat a small toque of grayish straw, with crimson velvet ribbon and small flowers. She wore an antique chain and some odd earrings of etruscan gold. With her were Mrs. F. B. Sears, Jr., and Emily Beebe. Eleanora Sears was there in her tennis rig. Margaret Thomas was there, wearing a white embroidered batiste, a large blue hat with pink roses. She was with her brother, Mrs. Washington B. Thomas, wearing a blue and white foulard and long gray silk cloak. Among others present were Barbara Higginson, with a party; Mrs. Wm. Hamilton Jr. Boardman, Mrs. Ehen Jordan, Mrs. George Lee and one of her daughters, Mrs. James Jackson (Rachel Brooks) with party, the Tickner sisters and many more.

* * *

Members of the society set along the North Shore turn out in large numbers to witness the practice polo at the Myopia Hunt Club grounds. Among the players this season are F. B. Fay, George Lee and Frederick A. Prince and J. A. L. Blake. The field is in first-class condition.

* * *

As the bride of David Alexander Davis, Miss Rowbotham, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thornley of Wollaston, is now enjoying her honeymoon at the old colonial home of E. H. Perry, Nantucket. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Allen A. Stockdale at the Union Congregational Church in that city.

* * *

Mrs. Max Barbert (Fanny Kellog), who has been here for a few days, left suddenly for her home in New York, but expects to return to visit friends at the North Shore.

* * *

Society at the South Shore is co-operating with the natives of Duxbury in making a huge success of the coming pageant July 31—"Duxbury Day." Dr. Myles Standish of this city is chairman of the committee and ex-Governor Long will be the orator. It promises a notable event and will attract many from Cohasset, Plymouth and other places.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farley Clarke (Susan Day Kimball) have joined the exclusive Dedham colony of Bostonians and leased the estate of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Maynard. The Clarkes were at Swampscott earlier in the season.

* * *

Miss Eleanor L. Whitridge, who has just sailed for Europe, and who was one of the most attractive of the group of bridesmaids at the Swann-Sedgwick wedding in Stockbridge last Saturday, will be married to Charles S. Greenough in the Autumn. Miss Whitridge is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Whitridge of New York. Mr. Whitridge was special ambassador to Spain at the time of the coup Alfonso. Miss Whitridge is the grandaughter of Mr. Matthew Arnold and Mrs. Humphrey Ward and Miss Ethel Arnold were guests at her home during their stay in New York. Mr. Greenough is a graduate of the Sheffield Scientific School, Yale '02.

* * *

Miss Dorothy Dexter and her fiance, David M. Osborne, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Gardner at Little Day, Monument Beach. Miss Dexter is a close friend of Mrs. Francis B. Boyer, Mrs. Gardner's only daughter, who is also visiting her parents with her husband, the Rev. Francis B. Boyer, and their little girl.

* * *

Among the pleasant events of the week in Lenox was the luncheon given by Mrs. C. Perkman Shaw in honor of Miss Alice Sohier, whose engagement to Herbert Bramwell Shaw was announced just before Easter. The guests were of the younger set.

* * *

J. Grant Forbes of Dover has loaned his house and with his family will spend the summer at Manchester. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson of New York are to occupy the Forbes house in Dover.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Keen of Commonwealth avenue will sail from New York the last of the month for Europe.

* * *

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lars Anderson on their yacht, the Roxana, this week, were the Gerald Ashmeads, Count Johann Heinrich von Bernstorff and the Countess.

* * *

Miss Margaret Steward, who is a niece of Mrs. William Pratt Lyman of Beacon street, is the guest of Mrs. Louis L. Lorillard, who is also her niece. Mrs. Lorillard is entertaining at her cottage in Newport.

* * *

Mrs. G. Foster Williams and Miss Williams of Beacon street are to be at Narragansett Pier for the remainder of the Summer. They have leased "Lion's Head," on the cliffs.

* * *

Mrs. Lamont G. Burnham of the Hotel Somerset is at Swampscott for the season. She is occupying the same place on Atlantic avenue, Phillips Beach.

* * *

Miss Charlotte Banes gave a tea in the gardens at Gold Brook, Lenox, for Miss Mabel Choate, who sails for England soon.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Carr of Commonwealth avenue are to entertain their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brewster of Seabright, N. J., later in the month. Mr. and Mrs. Carr are at their Summer home, the Jungle, in Jersey Lane, West Manchester.

* * *

Signor Portela, Minister fro mthe Argentine Republic to the United States, and his wife, Signora Portela are at their Summer headquarters at Magnolia.

* * *

Mrs. Oscar Iasigi of Beacon street is entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Grannis of New York, who arrived at Clovercroft, Stockbridge, on Wednesday.

* * *

Colonel and Mrs. Harry E. Russell of Marlboro street and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bemis of Clarendon street have been on a hunting expedition in the Rangeleys. They have now returned to Manchester, where they expect to spend the remainder of the Summer.

* * *

Bostonians who know Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Munn (Mary Astor Paul) are expecting to see them here the latter part of September, when they are to return from their honeymoon abroad. Word comes from them that they have left London and are in Germany.

BIGGEST OF STEEL MILLS AT GARY, IND.

PITTSBURG, July 8.—Two great additions to the finishing mills to be located at Gary, Ind., are being planned by the steel corporation, according to the Iron Trade review. The additions are for a tin plate plant equipped with fifty mills, or the largest single plant of the kind in the world by sixty per cent., and a plant of fifty mills for the rolling of steel sheets which is also to be the largest of any of its kind.

The two plants will be operated by the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company, and will represent the first of the lighter finished steel plants that will be added to the Gary equipment. The immunity of the project may be realized when compared with the largest plant now operating in the country, the Shenandoah plant at Newcastle, which has three hot mills and has been one of the wonders of the tin plate industry.

Will Employ 5,000 Men.

The largest sheet steel plant thus far is the Vandergrift works, which has thirty-seven mills and has held a similar position in the sheet steel trade. Both are steel corporation plants.

The cost of the two plants will run into several million dollars, and they will employ jointly between 4,000 and 5,000 men. The announcement of the building of the two tin mills at Gary is taken to indicate the steel corporation's reply to the 'tin workers' ded, as the steel officials have all all along boasted that "open shop" conditions would always remain at Gary. Amalgamated association officials declare that the sheet and tin plate workers who are being assembled to break the strike in the company's union plants are being sent to Scottdale, Pa., as a rendezvous. Eleven crews of non-union workers for the idle plants they say are being made up at that place.

Strike-Breakers Are Ready.

It is expected that a trainload of strike-breakers will be sent from Scottdale to South Sharon in a day or so. At both Sharon and Newcastle the company has prepared to start with non-union men. Stockades have been built, cots have been installed in the mill enclosures, bunks have been erected and stocks of provisions secured. The company promises to start five hot mills at South Sharon by to-morrow. At least 100 of the strikers are doing picket duty at these mills.

It is asserted that the company is offering double the Amalgamated scale to skilled men in Pittsburg to act as strike-breakers. The Amalgamated men say they have a sufficiently large defence fund to withstand a long siege.

With the exception of three stacks, two at Wood Middlesex and one at Sharon, every blast furnace in the Shenango valley is in full blast. The pig iron production of this district has increased 50 per cent. in four months.

AN HONEST MAN

DIOGENES FEELS KEEN FOR REVENGE.

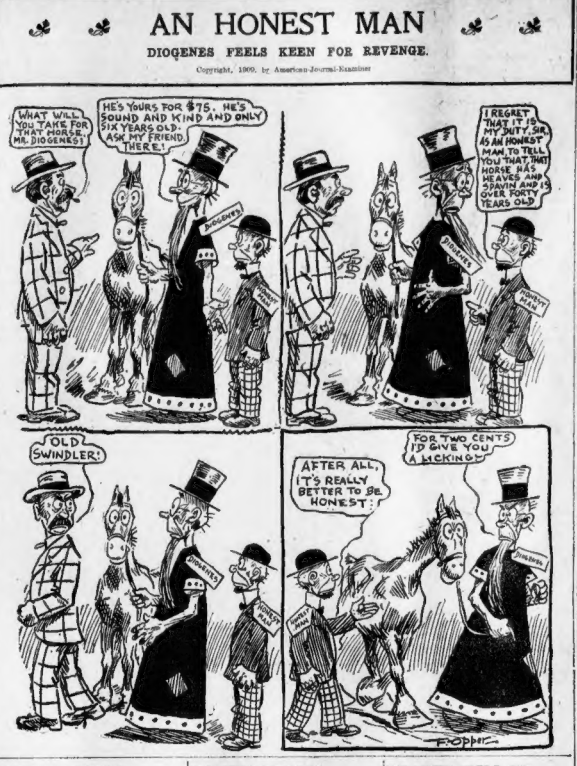
Copyright, 1909, by American-Journal-Examiner



WHAT WILL YOU TAKE FOR THAT HORSE, MR. DIOGENES?
HE'S YOURS FOR $75. HE'S SOUND AND KIND AND ONLY SIX YEARS OLD. ASK MY FRIEND, THERE!
I REGRET THAT IT IS MY DUTY, SIR, AS AN HONEST MAN, TO TELL YOU THAT THAT HORSE HAS HEAVES AND SPAVIN AND IS OVER FORTY YEARS OLD OLD SWINDLER!
FOR TWO CENTS TO GIVE A KICKING!
AFTER ALL, IT'S REALLY BETTER TO BE HONEST!

TWO ARE DYING AS RESULT OF A FIGHT

KENNEBUNKPORT, Me., July 8.—Fred Rankin clubbed Miss Littlefield, his housekeeper, into unconsciousness, causing injuries which will result in her death, and then attempted suicide. He shot off three of his fingers and then cut his throat.

When the crime was discovered the man was placed in an automobile and rushed to the Biddeford Hospital, but the surgeons who had him in charge said that he could not reach that institution alive.

Residents in the neighborhood stated that the voices of the man and his housekeeper engaged in an argument were heard, and it is believed that this quarrel led up to the attempt at murder and suicide.

TIP FOR THOSE VACATION BOUND

One of the handiest possessions of the Summer vacationist is a good suit case, more often two of them, for men or women going away for the customary two weeks in the mountains or at the seashore. Do not like to take a trunk, or even go to the trouble of packing one. Bearing this in mind, Wolf's, "My Clothier," at Hanover and Portland streets, have made a special feature of and are now selling a suit case of high grade at a remarkably low price, which they will continue until the supply is exhausted.

CHANCE TO SEE THE BIG FLEET

Provincetown is to welcome during the present Summer the biggest visiting fleet of war craft of her history. Sixteen first-class battleships will rendezvous there after Saturday to put in a month of hard work at target shooting and other drills. Supply ships, submarines and torpedo boats and destroyers also fill the harbor. The steamer Cape Cod, as she enters the harbor on her daily trips, passes through this great fleet and is saluted by a score of steam whistles. The Cape Cod leaves 400 Atlantic avenue at 9 in the morning and on Sundays at 9:30 a. m.

DRAPER WILL BE HOME WEEK GUEST

NORTH ADAMS, July 8.—The Old Home Week Committee to-day received from Governor Draper an acceptance of an invitation to be present on Governor's day during Old Home Week. The Governor will be accompanied by Lieutenant-Governor Frothingham. It is expected that the Governors of Vermont and New York will also accept invitations to be present.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS: FINANCIAL NEWS

BEARS ATTACK NORTH BUTTE

STATE STREET, July 8.—A fierce bear attack on North Butte mining stock was the only feature in the local stock market this forenoon. They succeeded in breaking the price two points to 62¼, from which it recovered slightly. Paine was a large seller of ostensibly long stock which precipitated the decline. Fortunately the balance of the list did not sympathize with the break and prices elsewhere held about steady although trading in general was of light proportions.

There was some offerings of Steel Common for New York account, causing fractional setback, but no news accompanied it, and the selling was of a professional character. Amalgamated yielded slightly to come at 67. U. S. Smelting was also heavy. Giroux was freely offered at 8⅝, but no sales were made at this price. There has been a steady absorption of Atchison, rights and talk emanates from New York that the stock will be put upon a 6 per cent. basis.

Curb trading was again light and without particular features. Goldfield Consolidated eased still further to 6¼. First Nationals also receded to below 7. The Governing committee of the Curb Exchange has advanced Nevada-Douglas Copper stock from the unqualified to the qualified list.

BALTIMORE PARTY VISITING BOSTON

Twenty-five Baltimore merchants, who with their wives are on a pilgrimage of pleasure, are at the Hotel Lenox. The first part of their trip was made on the Seaboard Air Line's steamer Essex from Norfolk, which landed them in Providence. After a visit of two days in Boston the return trip will be made on the Merchants' and Miners' line direct from this city.

WALL ST. NEWS FOR INVESTORS

WALL STREET, New York, July 8.—There is abundant evidence of an increased optimism in Wall Street, as a result of the highly favorable crop reports now coming to hand, and predictions of a further general advance in the stock market are freely made, these, in many cases, emanating from highly influential circles. It makes all the difference in the world, however, whether those who freely voice the optimistic opinions and predict the further substantial improvement in security prices, have only a few stocks on hand or are burdened with large lines. Wall Street is doing the talking, but the probability is that Wall Street has the load. The point of interest is, how do the public feel. If they are clogged with the optimism so much in evidence in Wall Street and come in as buyers of stocks then the predicted bull movement will materialize. But if they remain as indifferent to present conditions as they have been in the brilliant prospects displayed since the beginning of the crop season, then it may be doubted whether Wall Street will carry its bullish operations very far. The Street would undoubtedly like to see a bull movement, but it is the general public who must decide whether the present time is opportune for bullish operations or not.

$ $ $

That distribution of stocks bought at much lower prices has been going on steadily for some time is demonstrated by the report that several of the large national banks in the Wall Street district have greatly reduced their holdings of investment securities. Two of them, it is said, had accomplished this to the extent of almost $20,000,000.

$ $ $

A French syndicate is supposed to have bought Southern Pacific convertibles, so that last year's bear point on Union Pacific has been adroitly turned to a bull argument. It is admitted that the Union Pacific had parted with this block of Southern Pacific bonds, but it is stated that the bonds were taken on the explicit understanding that the common stock would be lifted to a 7 per cent dividend basis within a stipulated time, supposedly in August.

Whether true or not, the statement is well invented and certainly proved effective in the market, where Southern Pacific was a leader.

$ $ $

It will not be denied that a stimulus other than the bond sale has accelerated the rise. Any extraneous measures employed to attract buyers to the grangers may be regarded as legitimate, in face of the fine crop outlook.

Expert views confirm the opinion of Western railroad men that in four months there will be a car famine, especially on the Atchison, which has crossed 117, a historical achievement.

$ $ $

The unforseen, if accidental, is one of the things to turn sentiment bearward; another may be the prolonged campaign which has raised stocks to a very high percentage. The aggregate value of 300 railroad securities issued to-day is $41,000,000, an increase of $800,000,000 in six months and of $1,200,000,000 since 1907. In point of issues to-day is $41,000,000, an increase of $800,000,000 in six months and of $1,200,000,000 since 1907. In point of November, 1907, a superb increase.

Best watching for mishaps is, as a rule, a losing game, and to sell because there has been a considerable advance in not a safe proceeding, particularly when it is accompanied by the big buyers, largely responsible for the great appreciation, have had an ample opportunity for taking profits.

$ $ $

The United States Steel Corporation reports a heavy gain in production over the last week or two. It has placed in operation about five additional blast furnaces, and is now operating 87 per cent. of its furnace capacity, compared with 82 per cent. a week or so ago.

The blast furnace production of the United States Steel Corporation at the present time represents 93 per cent. of its capacity in the year 1907. In other words, an additional increase of 9 per cent. would bring the output up to the capacity of two years ago.

Heavy gains have also been made in new bookings. Orders are being received at the rate of more than 40,000 tons a day, which means between 12,000,000 and 13,000,000 tons a year.

The increase in the Steel Corporation's production and orders indicates a big gain in earnings for the current quarter, and it would not be surprising if the income ran considerably in excess of $30,000,000 for the months of July, August and September. It will be the same price for its material that prevailed in 1907. Its earnings would now be running at the rate of at least $40,000,000 per quarter. In this connection, however, it is reasonable to suppose that with the increased demand for steel prices will improve, and the result will be proportionate gains in income.

The increase in production of the United States Steel Corporation compared with 1907 is a result of the operation of the first battery of four blast furnaces at Gary, Ind. Four additional furnaces will be put in operation in the last half of the current year.

$ $ $

The majority of copper producers very likely sold more copper in June than they produced, as was the case in May, and most of the estimates range between 12,000,000 and 22,000,000 pounds as the amount of the reduction of the surplus. New business seems to be a bit slack now in comparison with the activity in May and June, yet producers do not consider London future prices warranted by trade conditions, and all the larger ones are booking no orders at prices reduced to correspond with the London prices. The opinion seems to be quite general in the trade that the London decline has been brought about by speculation of the kind that is often employed to further cheap purchases of copper here.

$ $ $

The stocks that are tipped for increases in dividends are many enough to satisfy the most enthusiastic bull. Among the standard active stocks they include Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Atchison, Rock Island, Consolidated Gas and a few other good-sized issues. The occurrence of every favorable crop report tends to strengthen the time on the railroad stocks and produces some speculative buying.

$ $ $

While the basis for some of these rumors is good, the majority of them are founded on the wildest of guesses. For example, it is hardly likely that Union Pacific for some time to come will pay more than its present 10 per cent. rate, at which its investment yield, even on the latest quotation, is greater than that of most of the standard stocks. On the other hand there is good reason to believe that the Southern Pacific rate is to be increased soon to 7 per cent., and that the Atchison road is to be early restored to its 6 per cent. basis.

However, whatever of truth there may be in these rumors, the fact remains that they added materially in advancing quotations for Southern Pacific and Atchison. Both of these stocks made new high records.

STOCKS OPEN WITH DECLINE

By THOMAS C. SHOTWELL.

NEW YORK, July 8.—With the exception of Rock Island and Southern Pacific stocks were heavy and declined an average of a point during the early trading in Wall Street to-day. Reading was the heaviest sufferer and lost 1¼ points or more; also, while Wabash preferred declined 1¾, points on small transactions.

As there seems to be a let up in the improvement in the copper metal market, the copper shares also shared in the downward movement. Amalgamated losing ⅝ and Anaconda ½.

Strength of the Rock Island shares and of Southern Pacific was due to the expectation of a splendid report on corn and spring wheat to be published by the government to-day.

American Ice declined two points on moderate sales.

Trading in American shares in London was dull, with prices showing a tendency to decline. The foreign market was inactive owing to the approach of the fortnightly settlement.

In the curb market business was fairly active with prices irregular.

TRUST FOR WIDOW IN KELLOGG WILL

The will of Charles W. Kellogg of Brookline, who was a fire insurance man in Boston, was filed on file in the Norfolk County probate court to-day. The estate is valued without inventory. To his wife, Jane H., he gives the household furniture and articles, with the exception of a few to his children, Alexander, Edith, Alfred and Braxton Kellogg. The residue of the estate is to be put into a trust to pay a life income of $5,000 annually to the widow. On her death Alfred and Edith, if she be unmarried, will get $5,000 each, and the balance will be divided equally among the four children.

BIG SHOE FIRM HOST AT FAIR

Hundreds of shoedealers from all over New England are to-day enjoying the hospitality of Rice & Hutchins, the oldest shoe firm in the country. To-day is called Rice & Hutchins ray at the big Shoe Fair on the Charles.

Special trolleys took the visitors to the fair grounds and upon their arrival they were personally conducted through the building by salesmen of the Atlas Shoe Company. The object of the affair was for the dealers to become better acquainted with the manufacturers.

Luncheon was served in the assembly hall, after which the party broke up in groups, some taking a motor boat trip on the Charles, while others took trolley trips.

SHOE SALESMEN, OFF FOR ANNUAL SAIL AND OUTING

John M. Meggett, president of Boston Shoe Travelers' Association.

The Boston Shoe Travelers' Association, accompanied by their wives and many boys from all over the country, left Rowe's wharf for Nantasket to-day on their annual Summer outing. The committee in charge of the sports is Ernest L. Rankin, Waldo M. Oakman, W. Fred Elskett, Walter B. Boyce and Stanley L. Mathes.

The officers of the association are: President, John M. Meggett; vice-president, Thomas E. C. Johnson; secretary and treasurer, William Noll; executive committee, John B. Brennan, Horace W. Murray and Messrs. Oakman and Rankin.

A ball game this forenoon was the first thing on the programme, and salesmen of men's shoes and the salesmen of women's shoes competing. Other sports, such as running races and three-legged races are interspersed through the day. There are prizes for all events and special features have been arranged for the ladies. This afternoon the buyers play the winners of the forenoon baseball game. Other sports means a dinner in the Palm Garden at Dorchester Park. After the dinner sports there are several other attractions on the programme. The party leaves on the 9:30 boat for Boston.

IMPORTANT DORCHESTER REALTY DEAL

One of the largest individual realty deals in Dorchester for quite a while is that recorded to-day whereby Christian H. Lyythans, well-known broker of that district, purchases five parcels of land for the price of $26,000 from Otto Hansen, administrator. Two of these were later resold at a good advance.

The first property is that at Nos. 24 and 26 Dickens street, near Adams street, consisting of two three-family houses and 7,504 square feet of land, all assessed for $7,200, of which $1,800 is on the land.

The second parcel, which was later resold to Evelyn H. Young, is that at Nos. 49 to 59 Sidford street, near Wheatland avenue. The property comprises two three-family houses and 9,000 square feet of land, all land assessed for $8,800, of which $2,200 is on the land.

Mr. Lyythans also purchased the frame shingle house and 15,000 square feet of land at No. 14 King street, near Dorchester avenue, assessed for a total of $7,100, of which $3,000 is on the land.

The fourth parcel is located at No. 28 Elkins street, near Norfolk street, and consists of a frame shingle house and 4,318 square feet of land, assessed for a total of $3,000, of which $1,000 is on the land.

The fifth and last parcel in the purchase is the property at No. 86 Milton street, near Dorchester avenue, consisting of a frame single house and 4,870 square feet of land, assessed for $3,000. Lyythans later resold to Martin Kehoe, is assessed for a total of $2,100, of which $1,000 is on the land.

In the South End besides the sale is reported of the three-story bow-front brick dwelling and lot of land at No. 82 West Dedham street, extending through to Rutland square, opposite the Cathedral and Shawmut avenue. The whole estate is taxed for $5,800, of which $1,800 is on the land. Lucy Burns at one time owned the property, and Thomas Burns purchased it in 1869. The present purchaser has owned and occupied it for 30 years. The land is assessed for $1,500, $1,100 being on the land.

Another sale of property in Dorchester is that of the frame dwelling house and 3,200 square feet of land at No. 8 Bonner avenue, corner of Bonner street, by Mary Ann Hayes to Mary Ann Marland, as is recorded to-day. The property is taxed on a total valuation of $7,200, of which $3,000 is on the land.

Walter H. Roberts, executor, has sold to Raymond F. Dolliver the frame and brick dwelling house and lot of land containing 4,659 square feet and land for sale at the corner of Bowdoin street, Dorchester, has been sold by Clifford M. Bryant to Minnie Cook.

In West Roxbury the frame house and 5,000 square feet of land at the corner of Bellevue avenue, corner of Neponset avenue, and assessed for a total of $4,600, has been sold by Mary A. Keenan to Theodora Mayhew. The land is rated at $1,600.

BIGGEST AUXILIARY SCHOONER IN PORT

The palatial Boston-built yacht Visitor II., the largest three-masted auxiliary craft in the world, is in the harbor from New London, with her owner, Harry Brown of Philadelphia, and a party aboard. She is a thing of beauty to look at, but the position she has been ordered was not strictly in accordance with the harbor regulations and she had scarcely come to a halt when the police boat Watchman was alongside. The skipper was given some directions and later she was worked down further into the mooring ground.

World Protest Against Vivisection

All Enemies of Needless Cruelty Hope for Good Results from the London Congress

It seems incredible that there can be a type of inhumanity which refuses to indorse safeguards against needless cruelty in vivisecting helpless animals. Nevertheless, the facts of vivisection and the stubborn resistance to proposed safeguards disclose exactly such callousness. And therefore all enemies of cruelty hope for good results from the anti-vivisection conference now in session in London. It is necessary to make a world-wide protest.

In this State there is practically no regulation of vivisection. There is no requirement of the use of anaesthetics. The animals are not required to be humanely killed and not left to suffer long torture. There is no official and professional test demanded of the vivisector.

Moreover, there is no denying that this unregulated and unlicensed practice tends toward callousness in regard to HUMAN as well as brute suffering. If they get the chance, the vivisectors wish to use HUMAN BEINGS. Indeed, it has been charged that in certain hospitals in Europe unfortunate, friendless persons, men, women and children, have been vivisected.

Actual cases of this callousness are on record in this country. There are authentic records in the form of printed essays detailing the experiments.

There was the instance of Mary Rafferty, in the Good Samaritan Hospital, in Cincinnati. She was a friendless and weak-minded waif of the world. Needle electrodes connected with a battery were inserted into her brain. A RECORD OF HER SUFFERINGS AND CONVULSIONS WAS CALMLY WRITTEN.

Such experiments frankly have no connection with the cure of disease. They are done to satisfy SURGICAL CURIOSITY.

The resulting callousness produces the idea that if a patient is going to die anyway, why not experiment? And there are many persons who can testify that after being pronounced hopeless by the doctors, they have recovered through their own stamina or some inscrutable mercy.

However, there is some protection for human beings. But the poor dumb creatures have no protection. And the contention of the American has been that there should be no vivisection except subject to license and supervision, and only for the CURE OF DISEASE—not for mere curiosity.

The cutting of dumb creatures without anaesthetics by callous and curious students, without registry and institutional responsibility, should be forbidden.

The protest against the heartless side of vivisection is growing. And we hope the London conference will give the movement increased impetus.

Suggestions of the Champlain Celebration

"To make America better known and better loved in France, and to make France better known and better loved in America."

Such is the avowed aim and mission of the Societe France-Amerique, recently organized in Paris with M. Gabriel Hanotaux at its head and many others of the chief notables of France among its members.

The fraternal relations between France and the United States are traditional.

The liberal and progressive element of France has always felt that it had a vested and indefeasible interest in the American republic, because of the inspiring part played by La Fayette and his French comrades in the winning of American independence.

The still more ancient bond knitting the history of France to that of the United States is not so vivid in men's minds.

The Champlain celebration at Crown Point should do much to revive old French-American memories.

It recalls to us the fact that the French explorers coasted New England before the landing of the Pilgrims; that their pioneers and missionaries swept through Canada to the shores of Lake Superior and established their outposts throughout the Mississippi Valley to New Orleans.

The predominance in this country of English, rather than French, speech, manners and traditions is one of the great historical accidents.

A few more Champlains—and we all would be parley-vooing.

Let Us Have That "Square Deal"

The fiscal report of the United States is only $92,000,000 short. That is a small sum for the United States.

But Senator Aldrich takes occasion to point the moral that all pledges must be broken and the tariff increased to fit the need of revenues.

So here we have a case of high tariff for revenue, though the field might be opened for a straight tax on all incomes.

And apparently President Taft has fallen into the trap. He says we must have revenue. To be sure! A corporation tax will be fine. But by this process is not the tax an income tax? A corporation is a creature of statute and therefore legally subject to taxation on its income; an individual, without a constitutional amendment, is not; but will not the corporation tax, at last, come out of the pocket of the individual stockholder?

And by this process are not some incomes taxed, while others escape?

LETTERS FROM AMERICAN READERS

THE MAN WITH THE AUTO HAS RIGHTS, TOO

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

At the Malvern House, No. 98 State road, Beachmont, the street is but thirty-five feet wide, with no sidewalk on either side for quite a distance except in front of the hotel, and from 5 to 8 p. m. the people from the trains take possession of the street, so that not more than one in ten walk on the sidewalk at this point.

I have seen several children just miss being run over by automobiles. One I saw to-night. There were five little children playing in the street next to the railroad. A man with an auto, running very slowly, turned out to pass them. One little tot, three years old, started quickly to cross the street, never looking to see where she was going, and she came within one foot of running right into the auto.

Now none of these children and few of the grown people who travel up and down the middle of this road (and there are hundreds of them every morning and night) ever take any precaution for their personal safety, but wait for some one to "honk," and then never hurry to get out of the road.

CHARLES H. WHITTIER.

PROFESSOR ELIOT AND HIS BOOKS

Editor BOSTON AMERICAN:

Dear Sir—Your article on "President Eliot's List of Books" was most timely and full of good common sense.

When a man as narrow as Mr. Eliot has shown himself to be advises people what sort of literature to peruse that advice will be confined to his own narrow sphere, and not to a broad, liberal people.

President Eliot has been pampered to such a degree by a puny handful of highbrows, and accordingly placed upon a little pedestal by this coterie of "admirers" that his imagination has become very vivid and his brain wonderfully fertile.

Little Bobbie's Pa

By William F. Kirk

Ma & me went to see Pa play ball yesterday. It was a picknick, but it wasent any pick-nick for Pa. Ma & me had lots of fun, tho.

The way Pa came to go to this picknick was like this. He came hoam the nite before & told Ma, well, deer fambly, I will give you beath a chance to git a glanst at me as a athleet. I am going to let you both see me pitching a ball, sed Pa.

How is that? sed Ma. I am going to pitch for the Married Men, sed Pa, against the Divorced Men. One (1) of the Judges wich granted a divorce is going to umpire, sed Pa, & one (1) of the Co-respondents is going to carry water, sed Pa.

So yoster-day morning Ma & Pa & me all got in the trane & we went out to the pick-nick grounds. All of the Married Men, & all of the Divorced Men was there, & thay was waiting for Pa.

When he came to the pick-nick grounds, thay all gave him a cheer. You hear that, doant you, wife? sed Pa. Thay are cheering for me.

I am glad to hear them cheering, sed Ma, beekaus sumthing seems to tell me that these will be the last cheers I heer for you, after the game begins.

Then Pa started in pitching for the Married Men. The first man wich faced him was a man wich had been divorced beekaus he was guilty of wife-beeting. The first Pa did was to pitch a strate ball acrost the plate, & the Divorced Man hit it on the nozes & made a hoam run. Now, sed the man to Pa, what do you think of me? I am not in the least sur-prised, sed Pa, not in the leest. Thay tell me, Pa sed, that you have often hit yure wife in the noase, why shuddent you hit a litted thing like a baseball. Pa was pritty mad, beekaus he saw Ma laffing at him.

The next man wich Pa pitched the ball to was a man wich had no wife beekaus his wife had got a divorce for desersion. The man got a base on balls, & then he stosl second base, & then he stoal third base, & then he laffed at Pa & sed What do you know about that?

I am not at all sur-prised, sed Pa. No wonder a man wich runs away from his wife can steal a base in a baseball game. I dident expeck anything but speed from a running man of yure tipe, sed Pa. Why doant you run hoam? sed Pa. I doant see you trying anything like that. Pa was red in the face.

The next man wich batted against Pa hit the ball so hard that the other man & himself scored, & then the man wich had made the second hoam run began to laff at Pa. Why doant you go back hoam and tell yure fambly that you tried to pitch a game of ball and the man wich had made the second hoam run.

Beekaus I am not like you, sed Pa, I always have my fambly right with me. I doant think the wife wich you once promised to lux & cherish wod be seen with you every agganst, sed Pa. They tell me you used to brake Haviland china on her hed, sed Pa, altho it is none of my business. What a brute you must be, sed Pa, to be sure.

Then the manager of the Married Men calm & told Pa that thay dident wont him to pitch any moar.

& why not, sed Pa, why not. I have everything, sed Pa, speed & curves & control.

I know you have everything, sed the manager, but thay seem to hit everything you have. I think I will send you to right feeld, sed the manager, & send in yure frend Mister Jones to pitch. He tells me he is thare like a duck.

That's right, sed Pa, talk me out of box jest wen I am going good. Do you think a wise manager, like Mister Lake, wud have taiken me out in this kind of a pinch? I doant think he wud ever have put you in, sed the manager of the Married Men.

So Pa went out in right feeld & in the first inning after Last he caught a fly. It hit him on the nosse & bounced into his glove, & Pa held it. Then he had such a noasebleed that he had to git out of the gaim.

The Divorced Men won the gaim from the Married Men. The score was 23 to nothing. Pa sed that was the way it shud be. All married men are nothing, sed Pa, until they do the 23. I think Pa is a very poor ball player.

Ma thinks the saim as I think, but we doant tell Pa.
